In recent years, (online learning) is springing up as people are developing an inseparable relationship with the (Internet). Admittedly, (online shopping) has become more popular than (in-store shopping). In fact, there are both advantages and disadvantages. (讲利弊). However, in my opinion, (machine translation) will not replace (human translators).

For one thing, (self-employed jobs) mean that you have more flexible time to do anything you want. / The popularity of (online shopping) can be attributed to the fact that it makes (shopping easier). / Firstly, ... is unable to do ... . This ~~flexibility~~ is an essential factor for (busy students) who wouldn't normally be able to study step by step because of time constrains. Also due to globalization and the gradual popularizati of internet and technology, a growing numer of people can use smartphone to learn online anywhere and any time. /(Secondly, ... cannot do ...). Finally the excessive use of machine translation can reduce people's learning ability and cannot promote cultural communication between countries. For another/ However, (learning online) has some disadvantages. For teenagers, it is inappropriate for them to contact the Internet too early. They are likely to be distracted as there are games ~~or other temptations~~ available online. What's more ~~they~~ there are

Security concerns for the risk of getting financial/personal information exploited by hackers.

Taking all these into account, we can draw a conclusion that (online learning) have both advantages and disadvantages, so we should not only see the favorable aspects, but also accept the unfavorable aspects. ~~It is significant to hold an objective attitude towards it.~~ It is unreasonable to assume that it is likely to replace shopping in store. 表达观点, In short, machine translation produces results at high speed which sometimes save people's energy and time, but very often it is not as accurate and effective as human translation. Therefore, it cannot replace human translation. 表肯定拒绝替代.

Nowadays, as people are becoming more conscious of the importance of lifelong learning. This has aroused widespread discussions among the general public. In my opinion, (happy family relationship) has farreaching significance to our society and life, and there are many ways to make couples happy./ the reasons why (parents and children) should communicate with each other and the approaches about how to do it are as follows. /and should have the following characteristics.

First of all, since the library is the place where people get knowledge, it should not only consist of ... but also be equipped with modern Internet-connected devices. Secondly, ... last but not least, ...

All in all, it is not easy to maintain a happy family relationship but it is time to raise people's awareness of it. I strongly believe that a happy family relationship benefits not only the couples themselves but also their relatives and even the society. I strongly believe that more ideal public libraries should be built to meet the need of various of people. Only in this way can we hope to make our society more stable and harmonious.
