前 言

对于研究生入学的所有考试，词汇是摆在所有考生面前的第一道难关。如果词汇关不能顺利通过，那么整个考试就失去了成功的基础。故而在编著本教材伊始，我感觉如履薄冰，唯恐有失。淡定之后，我结合单词演变的规律以及多年的应试及考试辅导经验，选择以同根，形近和近义等多条主线展开，在难度和深度上逐渐跟进，并最终实现攻克数千核心词汇的目标。

数载之间著成的本教材不但凝聚了笔者，而且涵盖了很多这个时代的应试辅导精英对核心词汇的感悟。本教材整理了笔者多年对于考试核心词汇研究的手记，并且吸取了很多考试辅导专家宝贵的建议，由我于 2010 年在全国数十个省市试讲，取得了惊人的效果。大学时代的笔者在四级，六级，TOEFL，GRE 等各类英文考试均取得过优异的成绩，掌握取得英文考试高分的精髓，并且经过大量的手记整理工作，呕心沥血方能著成本教材。目标只有一个，那就是在短短的一期课程内，帮助广大学员用革命性的方法突破词汇，一举拿下这道多年来都不曾攻克的难关。这是我对全国学员的承诺，更是对自己提出的挑战。成败与否由大家和我一起见证。除了英文考试之能外，我别无所成，故名为教学，实为交流，名为教师，实为学长，目的是为帮助大家通过考试，亦为结识全天下有识之士与己共同进步！

还请谨记：记忆词汇是一项长期而艰巨的任务。有勇气和毅力的人才敢于接受这个挑战，也只有这样的人才能成为最后的赢家。我清楚地记得自己当年还是翩翩少年时在灯下蓬头垢面，发奋苦读时的甘与苦，以及后来学有所成，衣锦还乡时的喜悦与兴奋。我愿那些在犹豫中的人们珍惜好年华，莫再踌躇而白了少年头，放下包袱与我轻装上路。路漫漫其修远兮，吾将上下而求索！

最后，我祝愿全天下的同等学力学子在新的一年马到成功！

第一部分：同等学力词汇构词记忆

（一） 词根

Today Is A New Day

author：Donna Levine （1954-）[美]

Your tomorrows are as bright

as you want to make them.

There is no reason to carry the darkness of the past

with you into today.

Today is a wonderful new experience， full of every possibility to make your life exactly what you want it to be.

Today is the beginning of new happiness,

new directions and new relationships.

Today is the day to remind yourself that you posses the power and strength you need to bring contentment, love and joy into your life.

Today is the day to understand yourself and to give yourself the love and the patience that you need.

Today is the day to move forward towards your bright tomorrow.

今天是新的一天

作者：唐娜·莱文[美]

你的明天充满阳光，

如你心中所想。

你没有理由，

把昨天的黑暗，

带到今天。

今天是美妙的全新体验，

有那么多种可能，

使你的生活如你所愿。

今天开始有新的幸福，

新的方向和新的伙伴。

今天你要提醒自己，

你有足够的能力和力量，

把满意、爱情和欢乐带进你的生活。

今天你要了解自己，

给自己足够的爱心和耐心。

今天你会勇往直前，

奔向那灿烂的明天。

1. Unfortunately, life is not a bed of roses. We are going through life facing sad experiences. Moreover, we are grieving various kinds of loss: a friendship, a romantic relationship or a house. Hard times may hold you down at what usually seems like the most inopportune time, but you should remember that they won't last forever.

2. Americans are proud of their variety and individuality, yet they love and respect few things more than a uniform, whether it is the uniform of an elevator operator or the uniform of a five-star general. Why are uniforms so popular in the United States?

3. Primary among the arguments against uniforms is their lack of variety and the consequent loss of individuality experienced by people who must wear them. When people look alike, they tend to think, speak, and act similarly, on the job at least.

4. People may become homeless for numerous reasons. However, there are certain factors that many of these individuals have in common. They include a lack of adequate education and job skills. A majority of the teenagers and adults have not completed high school.

5. Language skills today have become as important as other business and career skills like IT, vocational or professional skills. Thus, learning a foreign language today has become essential for an individual whether it is for careers, growing a business, or even to make an impression.

6. It remains to be seen whether the world can maintain its linguistic and cultural diversity in the centuries ahead. Many powerful forces appear to work against it :population growth, which pushes migrant populations into the world's last isolated locations; mass tourism; global telecommunications and mass media; and the spread of gigantic global corporations.

7. Loneliness has been linked to depression and other health problems. Now, a study says it can also spread. A friend of a lonely person was 52% more likely to develop feelings of loneliness. And a friend of that friend was 25% more likely to do the same.

8. "Transmission of disease to wildlife, or subtle changes to wildlife health through disturbance of daily routines or increased stress levels may translate to lowered survival and breeding," he said. Research at the University of Auckland has shown that dolphins become restless and overactive when many tourist boats are present. Researchers at the University of

Manitoba in Canada have found that male polar bears easily disturbed by tourist vehicles, with a possible effect on their heart rate and metabolism(新陈代谢). That could reduce body fat levels and fitness, critical for survival.

9. Ever won the lottery? No? But did that stop you buying another lottery ticket? If the answer is another “no", you might call yourself an optimist. The good news is that this brings a health benefit. Having a positive outlook on life reduces anxiety. A study of nearly 100，000 women showed a lower risk of death from heart disease among optimists. But there are problems in always having an optimistic attitude.

10. While fossil fuels- coal, oil, gas- still generate roughly 85 percent of the world's energy supply, it's clearer than ever that the future belongs to renewable sources such as wind and solar. The move to renewables is picking up momentum around the world: They now account for more than half of new power sources going on line.

Passage Two

Both civilization and culture are fairly modern words, having come into prominent use during the 19th century by anthropologists(人类学家), historians, and literary figures. There has been a strong tendency to use them interchangeably as though they mean the same thing, but they are not the same.

Although modern in their usage, the two words derived from ancient Latin. The word civilization is based on the Latin civis, of a city. ①Thus civilization, in its most essential meaning, is the ability of people to live together harmoniously in cities, in social groupings.② From this definition it would seem that certain insects, such as ants or bees, are also civilized. They live and work together in social groups. So do some microorganisms. But there is more to civilization, and that is what culture brings to it. So, civilization is inseparable from culture.

The word culture is derived from the Latin verb colere, till the soil.③ But colere also has a wider range of meanings. It may, like civis, mean inhabiting a town or village. But most of its definitions suggest a process of starting and promoting growth and development. One may cultivate a garden; one may also cultivate one’s interests, mind, and abilities. In its modern use the word culture refers to all the positive aspects and achievements of humanity that make mankind different from the rest of the animal world. Culture has grown out of creativity, a characteristic that seems to be unique to human beings.

One of the basic and best-know features of civilization and culture is the presence of tools. But more important than their simple existence is that the tools are always being improved and enlarged upon, a result of creativity. ④It took thousands of years to get from the first wheel to the latest, most advanced model of automobile.

It is the concept of humans as toolmakers and improvers that differentiates them from other animals. A monkey may use a stick to knock a banana from a tree, but that stick will never, through a monkey's cleverness, be modified into a hook or a ladder.⑤ Monkeys have never devised a spoken language, written a book, composed a melody, built a house, or painted a portrait. To say that birds build nests and beavers(海狸)their dens is to miss the point. People once lived in caves, but their cleverness, imagination, and creativity led them to progress beyond caves to buildings.

Notes：

①civilization 一词来源于拉丁语 civis，是“城市，城市化”的意思。

②这样，“文明”这一单词最基本的意思是人们在城市，和社会群体中和谐共存的能力。

③ 文化一词来源于拉丁语“colere”，意思是耕作土地。

④但比单纯应用工具更重要的是人类在不断改进工具和扩展工具，这是人类创造力不断发展的结果。

⑤猴子可以用木棍从树上打下香蕉，但是猴子用尽全部智慧也无法把这根木棍改造成钩子或梯子。

Passage Three

Diego Chiapello, legally blind since birth, isn't one of Italy's famous "mama's boys" who live with their parents into adulthood①. The 27-year-old lives alone in Milan, works as a network administrator, loves diving and dreams of sailing across the Atlantic with a sight-impaired（有视力障碍的）crew.

Obviously, he's not your average disabled person -----but especially so in Italy. The country has more barriers to integration than almost anywhere else on the Continent: among

European countries, Italy ranks third from the bottom in accessibility for the disabled, ahead of only Greece and Portugal, People who use wheelchairs, especially, find it difficult to navigate the country’s cobblestone (鹅卵石) streets, ride buses or visit restaurants, shops and museums.② Less than a quarter of Italy’s disabled hold jobs compared with 47 percent for Europe.

But the biggest obstacle for the country’s physically challenged may, in fact, be the fabled Italian family. Because of the social defect that still attaches to disabilities, “ they tend to keep disabled people at home” and out of public view, explains Giovanni Marri, head of an employment training center in Milan that caters to the handicapped. Thus while 15 percent of the country’s families include a disabled person, according to surveys, only 2 percent of Italians report going to school with a disabled person and only 4percent work with one.

Italians are beginning to recognize the problem. Over the past decade, the government has passed laws targeting everything from workplace discrimination to accessibility requirements. ③A recent study by the European Union found that 85 percent of Italians admit that public transportation and infrastructure (基础设施) are inadequate for the handicapped, and 97 percent say action is needed. But the biggest barrier is psychological. “Italian companies are afraid of hiring disabled people,” says Chiapello. The only way to alter that, he says, is for Italy’s disabled to do what he did--- get out of the house and demand change. (318 words)

Notes：

① adulthood 成年，成年人；Diego Chiapello 从出生起就被定性为失明，他不是一个同父母生活到成年的意大利著名的“妈妈的宝贝”。

②rank third from bottom 排名倒数第 3。To navigate 通过，穿行于。Accessibility for the disabled 为残疾人提供便利设施。

意大利在为残疾人提供便利设施方面在欧洲排名倒数第 3，仅先于希腊和葡萄牙，特别是人们很难乘轮椅穿行于该国鹅卵石街道，驾驶汽车，光顾旅馆、商店和博物馆。

③ target from to ：针对从…到…。现在分词用在名词后做定语。

accessibility requirements：残疾人便利要求。过去 10 年来，政府已经通过了一些针对工作场所歧视和为残疾人便利要求等许多方面。

Passage 5

Nowadays, we hear a lot about the growing threat of globalisation, accompanied by those warnings that the rich pattern of local life is being undermined, and many dialects and traditions are becoming extinct.① But stop and think for a moment about the many positive aspects that globalisation is bringing Read on and you are bound to feel comforted, ready to face the global future, which is surely inevitable now.

Consider the Internet, that prime example of our shrinking world. Leaving aside the all-too-familiar worries about pornography and political extremism, even the most narrow-minded must admit that the net offers immeasurable benefits, not just in terms of education, the sector for which it was originally designed, but more importantly on a global level, the spread of news and comment.② It will be increasingly difficult for politicians to maintain their regimes of misinformation, as the oppressed will not only find support and comfort, but also be able to organize themselves more effectively.

MTV is another global provider that is often criticized for imposing popular culture on the unsuspecting millions around the world. Yet the viewers' judgment on MTV is undoubtedly positive; it is regarded as indispensable by most of the global teenage generation who watch it, a vital part of growing up. And in the final analysis, what harm can a few songs and videos cause?

Is the world dominance of brands like Nike and Coca-Cola so had for us, when all is said and done? Sportswear and soft drinks are harmless products when compared to the many other things that have been globally available for a longer period of time--heroin and cocaine, for example.③ In any case, just because Nike shoes and Coke cans are for sale, it doesn't mean you have to buy them---even globalisation cannot deprive the individual of his free will.

Critics of globalisation can stop issuing their doom and gloom statements. Life goes on, and has more to offer for many citizens of the world than it did for their parents' generation. (337 words)

Notes：

①being undermined 正遭受破坏 are becoming extinct 正在消亡。

Passage Five

Even before Historian Joseph Ellis became a best-selling author, he was famous for his vivid lectures. In his popular courses at Mount Holyoke College in Massachusetts, he would often make classroom discussion lively by describing his own combat experience in Vietnam. But as Ellis's reputation grew-his books on the Founding Fathers have won both the prestigious National Book Award and the Pulitzer Prize ——the history professor began to entertain local and national reporters with his memories of war.① Last year, after The Boston Globe carried accounts of Ellis's experience in the Vietnam war, someone who knew the truth about Ellis dropped a dime(揭发) . Last week The Boston Globe revealed that Ellis, famous for explaining the nation's history, had some explaining to do about his own past.

"Even in the best of lives, mistakes are made ," said a wretched Ellis . It turned out that while the distinguished historian had served in the Army, he'd spent his war years not in the jungles of Southeast Asia , but teaching history at West Point②(西点军校). He'd also overstated his role in the antiwar movement and even his high-school athletic records . His admission shocked colleagues, fellow historians and students who wondered why someone so accomplished would beautify his past. But it seems that success and truthfulness don't always go hand in hand . Even among the distinguished achievers, security experts say, one in ten is deceiving—indulging in everything from empty boasting to more serious offenses such as plagiarism(剽窃), fictionalizing military records, making up false academic certificates or worse . ③And, oddly, prominent people who beautify the past often do so once they're famous , says Ernest Brod of Kroll Associates, which has conducted thousands of background checks . Says Brod: "It's not like they use these lies to climb the ladder."④

Then what makes them do it ? Psychologists say some people succeed, at least in part , because they are uniquely adjusted to the expectations of others . And no matter how well-known, those people can be haunted by a sense of their own shortcomings. "From outside, these people look anything but fragile," says Dennis Shulman, a New York psychoanalyst. "But inside, they feel hollow , empty." ⑤(379 words)

Notes：

① Founding Fathers 美国开国者；National Book Award and the Pulitzer Prize 国家图书奖和普利策新闻奖；entertain local and national reporters with his memories of war 就他在战争中的经历接受当地和全国报刊记者的采访。

② served in the Army 服兵役；原来这位著名历史学家虽然在军队服过兵役，但是他的战争岁月不是在东南亚的丛林中度过的，而是在西点军校讲授历史。

③ empty boasting 空虚的吹嘘；沉醉于空虚的吹嘘和更严重的恶行，如剽窃、把军队服役记录遍成小说、制作假学历证书或比做这更恶劣的事。

④他们（美化个人过去经历的人们）似乎不像是在利用这些谎言去步入社会上层。意思是取得更大成功。

⑤ look anything but fragile 除了脆弱其他和别人没有两样，anything but 等于 only；But inside, they feel hollow , empty 但在内心深处，他们的内心空虚、脆弱。

Passage Three

Pictures in the British papers this week of Prince William, Prince Charles's 18-year-old son, cleaning toilets overseas, have led to a surge of altruism (利他主义). Raleigh International, the charity that organized his trip, has seen inquiries about voluntary work abroad rise by 30%. But the image of idealistic youth that William presents no longer reflects the reality of the volunteer force. It's getting older and older. ①

Voluntary Service Overseas (VSO) has about 2000 volunteers in the field around the world. After a dip in interest in the mid-1990s, applications to work abroad are at record levels.②Last year 7, 645 people submitted applications, and 920 successfully negotiated the VSO selection process and were sent abroad. When the organization was founded in l959, the average volunteer was in his early 20s. Now, the average age is 35, and set to rise further.

Partly, that is because there are more older people who want to do VSO. More people take early retirement; more, says the chief executive of VSO, "still feel that they have more to give and are in good health". And the demands of the African and Asian countries where most of the volunteers go are changing, too. Their educational standards have risen over the past couple of decades, so they want people with more qualifications, skills and experience.

BESO (British Executive Service Overseas) recruits executives and businessmen with at least 15 years' experience for short-term contract work overseas. It organizes 500 placements (工作安置) a year, and at the moment supply is surpassing demand. A BESO spokesman said that the organization is "limited by funding rather than a lack of volunteers".

Enthusiastic but unqualified students do not impress as much as they once did alongside accountants, managers and doctors. The typical volunteer, these days, has been in full-time employment for at least five years and is highly qualified. ③ And the profession which provides the biggest portion of volunteers is education—headmasters and school inspectors as well as classroom teachers.④

① the image of idealistic youth that William presents 威廉王子代表的理想主义青年形象

Passage Three

In 1998 consumers could purchase virtually anything over the Internet. Books, compact discs, and even stocks were available from World Wide Web sites that seemed to spring up almost daily. A few years earlier, some people had predicted that consumers accustomed to shopping in stores would be reluctant to buy things that they could not see or touch in person. For a growing number of time-starved consumers, however, shopping from their home computer was proving to be a convenient alternative to driving to the store. ①

A research estimated that in 1998 US consumers would purchase $ 7.3 billion of goods over the Internet, double the 1997 total. Finding a bargain was getting easier owing to the rise of online auctions and Web sites that did comparison shopping on the Internet for the best deal.②

For all the consumer interest, retailing in cyberspace was still a largely unprofitable business, however.③ Internet pioneer Amazon.Com, which began selling books in 1995 and later branched into recorded music and videos, posted revenue of $ 153.7 million in the third quarter, up from $37.9 million in the same period of 1997. Overall, however, the company's loss widened to $45.2 million from $ 9.6 million, and analysis did not expect the company to turn a profit until 2001. ④Despite the great loss, Amazon.Com had a stock market value of many billion, reflecting investors' optimism about the future of the industry.

Internet retailing appealed to investors because it provided an efficient means for reaching millions of consumers without having the cost of operating conventional stores with their armies of salespeople. ⑤ Selling online carried its own risks, however. With so many companies competing for consumers' attention, price competition was intense and profit margins thin or nonexistent. One video retailer sold the hit movie Titanic for $ 9.99, undercutting (削价) the $ 19.99 suggested retail price and losing about $ 6 on each copy sold. With Internet retailing still in its initial stage, companies seemed willing to absorb such losses in an attempt to establish a dominant market position.

② Web sites that did comparison shopping on the Internet for the best deal.比较各经销商经营商品价格的网址。由于在线拍卖和比较各经销商经营商品价格的购物网址增多，在网上买到便宜货变得容易了。

④ widened to 增加到了。总体上说，Amazon.Com 公司的亏损增加了—— 从 960 万美元增长到 4520 万美元，但根据分析报告，我们不应期待该公司 2010 年前会扭亏为盈。

Passage Five

The word science is heard so often in modem times that almost everybody has some notion of its meaning. On the other hand, its definition is difficult for many people. The meaning of the term is confused, but everyone should understand its meaning and objectives. Just to make the explanation as simple as possible, suppose science is defined as classified knowledge (facts).①

Even in the true sciences distinguishing fact from fiction is not always easy. For this reason great care should be taken to distinguish between beliefs and truths. There is no danger as long as a clear difference is made between temporary and proved explanations. ②For example, hypotheses (假设) and theories are attempts to explain natural phenomena. From these positions the scientist continues to experiment and observe until they are proved or discredited (使不相信). The exacts status of any explanation should be clearly labeled to avoid confusion.

The objectives of science are primarily the discovery and the subsequent understanding of the unknown. Man cannot be satisfied with recognizing that secrets exist in nature or that questions are unanswerable; he must solve them. Toward that end specialists in the field of biology and related fields of interest are directing much of their time and energy.

Actually, two basic approaches lead to the discovery of new information. ③One, aimed at satisfying curiosity, is referred to as pure science. The other is aimed at using knowledge for specific purpose- for instance, improving health, raising standards of living, or creating new consumer products.④ In this case knowledge is put to economic use. Such an approach is referred to as applied science.

Sometimes practical-minded people miss the point of pure science in thinking only of its immediate application for economic rewards. Chemists responsible for many of the discoveries could hardly have anticipated that their findings would one day result in applications of such a practical nature as those directly related to life and death. The discovery of one bit of information opens the door to the discovery of another. Some discoveries seem so simple that one is amazed they were not made years ago; however, one should remember that the construction of the microscope had to precede the discovery of the cell. The host of scientists dedicating their lives to pure science are not apologetic (抱歉) about ignoring the practical side of their discoveries; they know from experience that most knowledge is eventually applied.⑤

Notes:

① is defined as 被定义为。正是为了尽可能地简化解释，我们假定科学被定义为“被分类的知识（事实）”。

②只有将暂时的解释和被印证的解释清晰地区分开来，才不要会有混淆信仰和真理的危险。

③ lead to 引领，导向。实际上，导致新知识的发现靠两个基本科学分支。

④其中一个被称为纯理论科学，其目的在于满足好奇心。另外一个做法旨在把知识用于特定目的—— 例如改善健康状况、提高生活水平或生产新的消费品。

⑤ host of scientists 许多科学家 are not apologetic about 对……感到歉意 is eventually applied 最终被应用。

许许多多献身于纯科学的科学家不必为忽视发现的实用性一面而感到歉意；从他们的经验他们知道大多数知识最终都会得到运用。

今日歌

明代：文嘉

今日复今日，今日何其少！

今日又不为，此事何时了？

人生百年几今日，今日不为真可惜！

若言姑待明朝至，明朝又有明朝事。

为君聊赋今日诗，努力请从今日始。

明日歌

明代：钱福

明日复明日，明日何其多。

我生待明日，万事成蹉跎。

世人若被明日累，春去秋来老将至。

朝看水东流，暮看日西坠。

百年明日能几何？请君听我明日歌。

例1：

The bow is the oldest project-throwing weapon still used by man, and for perhaps 30,000 years its form changed little: a bent stick and a string. When the English archer was the terror of Europe, his legendary long bow could send an arrow about 80 yards. The Turkish bow of the seventeenth century could achieve 600 to 800 yards. Today, the world record, achieved in 1970 on a California salt flat in dead calm air, is one mile, 101 yards, one foot, eight inches.

Which sentence best expresses the main idea?

A. An ancient weapon, the bow has survived the test of time.

B. The English archer has inspired the modern bow.

C. California's low altitude is ideal for archery.

D. Over the years, the bow has undergone a drastic change.

In the philosophy of John Dewey a sharp distinction is made between “intelligence” and “reasoning”. According to Dewey, intelligence is the only absolute way to achieve a balance between realism and idealism, between practicality and wisdom of life. Intelligence involves “interacting with other things and knowing them” ,while reasoning is merely the act of an observer,“…a mind that beholds or grasps objects outside the world of things…”With reasoning, a level of mental certainty can be achieved, but it is through intelligence that control is taken of events that shape one's life.

What is the topic of this passage?

A. The intelligence of John Dewey

B. Distinctions made by John Dewey

C. Dewey's ideas on the ability to reason

D. How intelligence differs from reasoning in Dewey's works.

Nitrogen fixation is a process by which additional nitrogen is continuously fed into biological circulation. In this process, certain algae and bacteria convert nitrogen into ammonia (NH).This newly created ammonia is then for the most part absorbed by plants.

The opposite process of denitrification returns nitrogen to the air. During the process of denitrification, bacteria cause some of the nitrates from the soil to convert into gaseous nitrogen or nitrous oxide. In this gaseous form the nitrogen returns to the atmosphere.

Which of the following would be the best title for this passage?

A. The Process of Nitrogen Fixation

B. Two Nitrogen Processes

C. The Return of Nitrogen to the Air

D. The Effects of Nitrogen on Plant Life.

The word science is heard so often in modern times that almost everybody has some notion of its meaning. On the other hand, its definition is difficult for many people. The meaning of the term is confused, but everyone should understand its meaning and objectives. Just to make the explanation as simple as possible, suppose science is defined as classified knowledge (facts).

Even in the true sciences distinguishing fact from fiction is not always easy. For this reason great care should be taken to distinguish between beliefs and truths. There is no danger as long as a clear difference is made between temporary and proved explanations. For example, hypotheses (假设) and theories are attempts to explain natural phenomena. From these positions the scientist continues to experiment and observe until they are proved or discredited. The exact status of any explanation should be clearly labeled to avoid confusion.

The objectives of science are primarily the discovery and the subsequent understanding of the unknown. Man cannot be satisfied with recognizing that secrets exist in nature or that questions are unanswerable; he must solve them. Toward that end specialists in the field of biology and related fields of interest are directing much of their time and energy.

Actually, two basic approaches lead to the discovery of new information. One, aimed at studying curiosity, is referred to as pure science. The other is aimed at using knowledge for specific purposes—for instance, improving health, raising standards of living, or creating new consumer products. In this case knowledge is put to economic use. Such an approach is referred to as applied science.

Sometimes practical-minded people miss the point of pure science in thinking only of its immediate application for economic rewards. Chemists responsible for many of the discoveries could hardly have anticipated that their findings would one day result in application of such a practical nature as those directly related to life and death. The discovery of one bit of information opens the door to the discovery of another. Some discoveries seem so simple that one is amazed they were not made years ago; however, one should remember that the construction of the microscope had to precede the discovery of the cell. The host of scientists dedicating their lives to pure science are not apologetic about ignoring the practical side of their discoveries; they know from experience that most knowledge is eventually applied.

A. Hypotheses and Theories　　B. On distinguishing Fact from Fiction

C. The Nature of Science and Scientists　　D. Biology and the Scientific Age

例2：

Do you forget to turn off the lights and heaters when you go out of a room? In 2040 it will not matter. They will turn themselves off and on again when you return. You will choose the temperature for each room, the lighting and the humidity. A sensor will detect the presence of a human (and, with luck, ignore the dog!) and turn the systems on, and when the humans leave it will turn them off again.

The sensors will work through the central home computer, and they will do much more than just turn the fires and lights on and off for you. They will detect faulty electrical appliances, plugs or switches, isolate them so that they cannot harm anyone, and then warn you that they need repair. They will detect fire and if you are out of the house, the computer will call the fire brigade. It will also call the police should the sensors detect an intruder. This will not be too difficult because the locks on the outside doors will be electronic. You will open them using your personal card--the one you use for shopping--may be using a number known only to you.

It will be impossible to lose the key, and a housebreaker will have to tamper (拨弄) with the lock or with a window. It is not very difficult to make such tampering send a signal to the computer.

The computer will be more than a fireman-policeman-servant. It will be an entertainer, and most of your entertainment will come right into your home. It does now, of course, but by 2040 "entertainment" will mean much more. For one thing, you will be able to take part actively, rather than just watching.

60. The best title for the passage might be _____.

A. Sensors and Computers

B. Life at Home in the Year 2040

C. The Development of Science and Technology

D. Lights and Heaters in the Year 2040

例3：(2003年第五篇)

Nowadays, we hear a lot about the growing threat of globalization, accompanied by those warnings that the rich pattern of local life is being undermined, and many dialects and traditions are becoming extinct. But stop and think for a moment about the many positive aspects that globalization is bringing. Read on and you are bound to feel comforted, ready to face the global future, which is surely inevitable now.

Consider the Internet, that prime example of our shrinking world. Leaving aside the all — to—familiar worries about pornography and political extremism, even the most narrow-minded must admit that the net offers immeasurable benefits, not just in terms of education, the sector for which it was originally designed, but more importantly on a global level, the spread of news and comment. It will be increasingly difficult for politicians to maintain their regimes of misinformation, as the oppressed will not only find support and comfort, but also be able to organize themselves more effectively.

MTV is another global provider that is often criticized for imposing popular culture on the unsuspecting millions around the world. Yet the viewers' judgment on MTV is undoubtedly positive; it is regarded as indispensable by most of the global teenage generation who watch it, a vital part of growing up. And in the final analysis, what harm can a few songs and videos cause?

Is the world dominance of brands like Nike and Coca—Cola so bad for us, when all is said and done? Sportswear and soft drinks are harmless products when compared to the many other things that have been globally available for a longer period of time heroin and cocaine, for example. In any case, just because Nike shoes and Coke cans are for sale, it doesn't mean you have to buy them ——even globalization cannot deprive the individual of his free will.

Critics of globalization can stop issuing their doom and gloom statements. Life goes on, and has more to offer for many citizens of the world than it did for their parents' generation.

70. Which of the following could be the best title of the passage?

A. Globalization Is Standardization
B. Globalization: Like It or Dump It
C. Globalization: Don't Worry, Be Happy
D. Globalization Brings Equality

例 4： (2004 年第四篇)

The average number of authors on scientific papers is sky-rocketing. That's partly because labs are bigger, problems are more complicated, and more different subspecialties are needed. But it's also because U.S. government agencies have started to promote "team science." As physics developed in the post-World War Ⅱ era, federal funds built expensive national facilities, and these served as surfaces on which collaborations could crystallize naturally.

Yet multiple authorship --- however good it maybe in other ways --- presents troubles for journals and for the institutions in which these authors work. For the journals, long lists of authors are hard to deal with in themselves. But those long lists give rise to more serious questions when something goes wrong with the paper. If there is research misconduct, how should the liability be allocated among the authors? If there is an honest mistake in one part of the work but not in others, how should an evaluator aim his or her review?

Various practical or impractical suggestions have emerged during the long-standing debate on this issue. One is that each author should provide, and the journal should then publish, an account of that author's particular contribution to the work. But a different view of the problem, and perhaps of the solution, comes as we get to university committee on appointments and promotions, which is where the authorship rubber really meets the road. Half a lifetime of involvement with this process has taught me how much authorship matters. I have watched committees attempting to decode sequences of names, agonize over whether a much-cited paper was really the candidate's work or a coauthor's, and send back recommendations asking for more specificity about the division of responsibility.

Problems of this kind change the argument, supporting the case for asking authors to define their own roles. After all, if quality judgments about individuals are to be made on the basis of their personal contributions, then the judges better know what they did. But if questions arise about the validity of the work as a whole, whether as challenges to its conduct or as evaluations of its influence in the field, a team is a team, and the members should share the credit or the blame. (367 words)

1、根据释义猜词：

根据上下文以生词的定义为线索猜测词义是进行快速阅读时最常见、最直接的一种猜词方法。所谓定义就是作者经常会对文章中出现的一些生词、词组或术语进行解释。作者在解释这些词时直接使用下定义的方法，而且这些定义通常伴随一些标志性的语言，如：be, mean, refer to, to be defined as, be known as, be called, be termed, be described as, the definition of ...is等等。

例1： Anthropology is the study of human beings as creatures of society.

例2：There has been an upsurge of interest in this aspect of reading difficulty，which has been variously described as word blindness，dyslexia，or specific reading disability.

例3：You need to emit a signal telling others you want to be left alone. So you cut off eye contact, what sociologist Erving Goffman (1963) calls "a dimming of the lights." You look down at the floor, at the indicator lights, anywhere but into another passenger's eyes. Should you break the rule against staring at a stranger on an elevator, you will make the other person exceedingly uncomfortable, and you are likely to feel a bit strange yourself.

53. By "a dimming of the lights" (Para. l, Line 9) Erving Goffman means "_____".

A) closing one's eyes

B) turning off the lights

C) ceasing to glance at others

D) reducing gaze-time to the minimum

2、符号解释法

还有一种解释的方法就是用标点符号来引出对生词的解释，如逗号、冒号、破折号、括号等。

例1：Botany, the study of plant, occupies a peculiar position in the history of human knowledge.

例2：The principal— money he put in his savings account to earn interest— was safe even though the bank was closed by the police.

例3：Of these I should put forward a sense of proportion: the capacity to take account of all the important factors in a problem and to attach to each its due weight.

3、信号词解释法

为了解释清楚文章中出现的一个较难的词，作者有时会用一个同义词或近义词来使他的意思表达

的更清楚明白，这些同义词或近义词就为读者推断生词词义提供了线索；有时作者可能采取重述的方式复述一下前面的内容，也就是换一个说法。这种重述往往用比前面一种表达更为简单易懂的词语。表达重述时也有一些信号词，常用的有：similarly, consequently, that is, equally, in a like manner, in the same way, likewise, in other words, namely, like, to put it more simply, it would be better to say, that is to say, to put it another way.

例1：Britain almost more than any other country in the world must seriously face the problem of building upwards, that is to say, of accommodating a considerable proportion of its population in high blocks of flats.

4、举例解释法 有时为了进一步说明某一生词，作者会采取举例的方式来对它进行具体的说明和解释，从而使读者更容易加深理解。通过理解这些例子的意思，便可以归纳出词的含义，表示举例的连接词有：for example，for instance，such，such as，like，especially, consist of ，including等。

例1：At the party we were offered various beverages including hot tea, coffee, wine, beer, lemon juice, mineral water, and so on.

例2：

Social support cushions stress in a number of ways. First, friends, relatives, and co-workers may let us know that they value us. Our self-respect is strengthened when we feel accepted by others despite our faults and difficulties. Second, other people often provide us with informational support. They help us to define and understand our problems and find solutions to them. Third, we typically find social companionship supportive. Engaging in leisure-time activities with others helps us to meet our social needs while at the same time distracting(转移…注意力) us from our worries and troubles. Finally, other people may give us instrumental support — financial aid, material resources, and needed services — that reduces stress by helping us resolve and cope with our problems.

Passage One

It was Friday, the day of the field trip on which Miss Joan would take her class to pick apples.

Miss Joan enjoyed picking apples with her students. She smiled as she led her students to the bus that would take them to the Greenly Apple Orchard（果园）.

The bus ride was bumpy and the kids were a little noisy, but still Miss Joan was smiling.

The bus stopped in front of the Greenly Orchard Store and the class got off quickly and quietly. Miss Joan made sure everyone was there. “What a glorious, sunny, apple picking day,” Miss Joan announced with her grandest smile.

Mr. Greenly was there to greet them. “Let see, there are eighteen children and two adults at three dollars each. That will be sixty dollars, please.”

Miss Joan held up the brochure in her hand. “It says that the price is two dollars each,” she pointed ort. “That’s what I collected from everyone.”

“We’ve had to raise the price,” Mr. Greenly stated.

“You sent me this brochure after we made our reservation,” Miss Joan complained, “and it says two dollars!”

“Miss Joan, if you look at the bottom of this brochure,” Mr. Greenly said, “you’ll notice a very important statement.”

Sure enough, in very tiny letters, it said, “Prices are subject to change without notice.”

Miss Joan was determined to keep her good mood. She took a twenty dollars bill out of her own purse and handed it to Mr. Greenly with the forty dollars she had in an envelope.

“Now children, do you all have your baskets?” Miss Joan called out. “Remember, you can pick as many apples six apples each.”

“I beg your pardon!” Miss Joan was not smiling now. “The brochure says, ‘ALL YOU CAN PICK’!”

Mr. Greenly pointed to the tiniest letters Miss Joan had ever almost seen. It also says, "Terms and conditions of group reservations are subject to change without notice."

Miss Joan's good mood was now history. She didn't want to set a bad example for her students, so she said in a calm and quiet voice, "We're going home, give me our money back, please."

Passage Two

Both civilization and culture are fairly modern words, having come into prominent use during the 19th century by anthropologists(人类学家), historians, and literary figures. There has been a strong tendency to use them interchangeably as though they mean the same thing, but they are not the same.

Although modern in their usage, the two words derived from ancient Latin. The word civilization is based on the Latin civis, of a city. Thus civilization, in its most essential meaning, is the ability of people to live together harmoniously in cities, in social groupings. From this definition it would seem that certain insects, such as ants or bees, are also civilized. They live and work together in social groups. So do some microorganisms. But there is more to civilization, and that is what culture brings to it. So, civilization is inseparable from culture.

The word culture is derived from the Latin verb colere, till the soil. But colere also has a wider range of meanings. It may, like civis, mean inhabiting a town or village. But most of its definitions suggest a process of starting and promoting growth and development. One may cultivate a garden; one may also cultivate one's interests, mind, and abilities. In its modern use the word culture refers to all the positive aspects and achievements of humanity that make mankind different from the rest of the animal world. Culture has grown out of creativity, a characteristic that seems to be unique to human beings.

One of the basic and best-know features of civilization and culture is the presence of tools. But more important than their simple existence is that the tools are always being improved and enlarged upon, a result of creativity. It took thousands of years to get from the first wheel to the latest, most advanced model of automobile.

It is the concept of humans as toolmakers and improvers that differentiates them from other animals. A monkey may use a stick to knock a banana from a tree, but that stick will never, through a monkey's cleverness, be modified into a hook or a ladder. Monkeys have never devised a spoken language, written a book, composed a melody, built a house, or painted a portrait. To say that birds build nests and beavers(海狸)their dens is to miss the point. People once lived in caves, but their cleverness, imagination, and creativity led them to progress beyond caves to buildings.

36. What does the author think of the words "civilization" and "culture"?

39. The author believes that creativity _____ .

A. is a unique feature of civilized beings

B. brings forth the improvement of tools

C. is the result of human development

D. helps the advance of culture

40. The author mentions monkeys in the last paragraph to show that _____ .

A. monkeys are the same as birds

B. people once lived in caves like monkeys

C. monkeys can never develop into human beings

D. man is different from other animals such as monkeys

Passage Three

The huge growth of global "ecotourism" industry is becoming an increasing concern for conservationists with mounting evidence that many wild species do not respond well to contact with human beings. Overexposure to tourists has been linked to stress, abnormal behaviour and adverse health effects in species such as polar bears, dolphins and gorillas(大猩猩)，says a report in New Scientist.

While regulated ecotourism can help conservation efforts by encouraging people to manage endangered species and their habitats, many projects are poorly designed and unregulated, it says. "Many ecotourist projects are unaudited, unauthorized and merely hint they are based on environmentally friendly policies and operations."

While regulated ecotourism can help conservation efforts by encouraging people to manage endangered species and their habitats, "many projects are poorly designed and hint they are based on environmentally friendly policies and operations."

Ecotourism is growing by 10 to 30 percent a year and an estimated 20 percent of tourists are thought to visit a conservation-based project. Philip Seddon, of the University of Otago in New Zealand, said that although most tourist projects conformed to basic guidelines on land use and not scaring wildlife, their full impact was rarely considered.

"Transmission of disease to wildlife, or subtle changes to wildlife health through disturbance of daily routines or increased stress levels may translate to lowered survival and breeding," he said. Research at the University of Auckland has shown that dolphins become restless and overactive when many tourist boats are present. When three or more boats are near, the dolphins rest for 0.5 percent of the time, compared with 68 percent when they are accompanied by a single boat. The findings are backed up by studies of dolphins in Britain. Researchers at the University of Manitoba in Canada have found that male polar bears easily disturbed by tourist vehicles, with a possible effect on their heart rate and metabolism(新陈代谢). That could reduce body fat levels and fitness, critical for survival.

In Africa, gorillas have picked up parasites introduced to their habitat by tourists and mongooses(蠓)have caught lung diseases from human beings. Experts said that the answer to the problems was better regulation and supervision of ecotourism. The Galapagos Islands, where visitor numbers are strictly controlled, is a good model.

41. Ecotourism is meant to _____ .
    A. have tourists help in the conservation of wildlife
    B. have wild species respond well to contact with humans
    C. make wild species reduce stress and abnormal behaviour
    D. make conservationists more concerned with wildlife

    A. really encourage people to protect wildlife and its habitat
    B. strictly follow environmentally friendly policies
    C. actually lack proper examination and official approval
    D. seriously damage the habitats of endangered species
43. What will happen to wildlife ultimately if the present "ecotourism" practice goes on?
    A. It will disturb their life.
    B. It will affect their health.
    C. It will increase their stress.
    D. It will threaten their survival.
44. According to the passage, the growth in the global "ecotourism" industry _____ .
    A. reflects an increasing concern for conservation
    B. arouses a growing concern for conservation
    C. coincides with a mounting concern for conservation
    D. originates from a grater concern for conservation
45. According to the passage, a solution to the "ecotourism" problem is to _____ .
    A. encourage people to manage endangered species

    C. help wild animals increase their fitness
    D. prevent wildlife from catching human diseases

Passage Four

Computers can beat chess champion Gary Kasparov at his game, count all the atoms in a nuclear explosion, and calculate complex figures in a fraction of a second, but they still fail at the slight differences in language translation. Artificial Intelligence computers have large amounts of memory, capable of storing huge translating dictionaries and extensive lists of grammar rules. Yet, today's best computer language translators have just a 60 percent accuracy rate. Scientists are still unable to program the computer with human-like common sense reasoning power.

Computer language translation is called Machine Translation, or MT. While not perfect, MT is surprisingly good. MT was designed to process dry, technical language that people find tedious to translate. Computers can translate basic phrases, such as "You foot bone's connected to your ankle bone, your ankle bone's connected to your leg bone." They can translate more difficult phrases, such as "Which witch is which?" Computers can also accurately translate "Wild thing, you make my heart sing!" into other languages because they can understand individual words, as long as the words are pre-programmed in their dictionary.

But highly sensitive types of translating, such as important diplomatic conversations, are beyond the scope of computer translating programs. Human translators use intuitional meaning, not logic, to process words and phrases into other languages. A human can properly translate the phrase, "The pen is in the pen(围养禽畜的圈)," because most humans know that it means that a writing instrument is in a small enclosed space. Many times, computers do not have the ability to determine in which way two identical words in one sentence are to be used.

In addition to using massive rule-programmed machines, computer programmers are also trying to teach computers to learn how to think for themselves through the "experience" of translating. Even with these efforts, programmers admit that a "thinking" computer might not ever be invented in the future.

46. Computers today are capable of _____ .
    A. defeating the best chess player in the world
    B. telling subtle differences between languages
    C. translating over 60 percent of difficult texts
    C. doing human-like common sense reasoning
47. According to the passage, which of the following is NOT true?
    A. Computers can translate dry and difficult phrases.
    B. Computers can understand sensitive language.
    C. Computers can translate technical language.
    C. Computers can understand pre-programmed words.
48. The major problem with computer translating programs is that computers _____ .
    A. can not translate illogical sentences
    B. do not have a large enough capacity of memory
    C. can not understand grammatical rules
    D. do not have intuition to process language
49. To improve machine translation, computer programmers are trying to _____ .
    A. use powerful rule-programmed computers
    B. teach computers to think by practice
    C. have computers compile translating dictionaries
    D. add explanations of words in computer programs

50. The passage suggests that _____.

A. the accuracy rate of machine translation cannot be raised

B. it is impossible for computers to think as humans do

C. only technical language is suitable for machine translation

D. it is impossible to determine of identical words

Passage Five

Several years ago during the dot-com passion, Manhattan lawyer John Kennedy sometimes wore a dark blue suit to meet potential Internet clients. But he soon realized that his conservative clothes were a strike against him before he even shook hands. So he began to do business in casual, open-shirt clothes.

But now the tables have turned. Today Silicon Valley executives are the ones often coming out in suits. No wonder that Fortune 500 executives are dusting off their silk ties and pants." I would say there is a trend now toward a little more business dress," said Kennedy. "I find myself wearing suits more."

While there isn't a rush toward formal office wear, clothiers and executives say the workplace uniform is heading that way. In many offices, men are wearing jackets, ties and pants more frequently than a year age. Top women executives never went as casual as men, so the shift doesn't affect them as dramatically.

"Business casual" took several years to catch on. It started with casual Fridays, evolved to casual summers, then became casual everyday. A return to the button-down look also will take time, observers say. Lehman Brothers is one of the few major firms that has officially returned to a formal dress policy, at least for offices that clients visit. Men were told to wear suits and ties and women to wear suits or dresses. The shift is due to a rethinking of work environments and more contacts with clients as the firm has grown.

Observers mention many factors driving the trend. Internet companies helped lead the dress-down movement and other industries followed suit to attract workers. But with the collapse of many dot-coms, the relaxed look is becoming a style to avoid. Moreover, as the economy stumbles, more people are hunting for jobs or trying to keep the ones they have, and appearance counts.

US President Bush wears a coat and tie in the White House office and expects his staff to dress "professionally," which some say sets a tome for the nation.

Chuck Wardell, managing director of a recruiting firm, believes a lot of employees like a stiffer uniform. "They're going to work. They don't want to feel like they're going to a picnic."

Passage One

At all age and at all stages of life, fear presents a problem to almost everyone. "We are largely the playthings of our fears," wrote the British author Horace Walpole many years ago. "To one, fear of the dark; to another, of physical pain; to a third of public ridicule; to a fourth, of poverty; to loneliness ---- for all of us our particular creature waits in a hidden place."

Fear is often a useful emotion. When you become frightened, many physical changes occur within your body. Your heartbeat and responses quicken; your pupils expand to admit more light; large quantities of energy-producing adrenaline（肾上腺素）are poured into your bloodstream. Confronted with a fire or accident, fear can fuel life-saving flight（逃离）. Similarly, when a danger is psychological rather than physical, fear can force you to take self-protective measures. It is only when fear is disproportional to the danger at hand that it becomes a problem.

Some people are simply more vulnerable to fear than others. A visit to the newborn nursery of any large hospital will demonstrate that, from the moment of their births, a few fortunate infants respond calmly to sudden fear-producing situations such as a loudly slammed door. Yet a neighbor in the next bed may cry out with profound fright. From birth, he or she is more prone to learn fearful responses be3cause he or she has inherited a tendency to be more sensitive.

Further, psychologists know that our early experiences and relationships strongly shape and determine our later fears. A young man named Bill, for example, grew up with a father who regarded each adversity as a temporary obstacle to be overcome with imagination and courage. Using his father as am model ,Bill came to welcome adventure and to trust his own ability to solve problems.

Phil's dad, however, spent most of his time trying to protect himself and his family. Afraid to risk the insecurity of a job change, he remained unhappy in one position. He avoided long vacations because "the car might break down. " Growing up in such a home, Phil naturally learned to become fearful and tense.

31. In the last sentence of Paragraph 1, " our particular creature' refers to _____.

A. fear of something B. a fierce beast

C. physical pain D. public ridicule

32. Fear can be useful emotion to us because it can _____.

A. stimulate many physical changes within our body

B. quicken our heartbeat and responses

C. pour large quantities of adrenaline into our bloodstream

D. help us respond quickly to danger and protect ourselves

33. Fear becomes a problem only when _____.

A. the danger is thought greater than it really is

B. the danger is ore psychological than physical

C. one cannot stand the danger

D. one is not well prepared for it

34. Different responses of newborn infants to a loudly slammed door imply that _____.

A. some people are inherently more easily affected by danger

B. people's response to stimuli is not an inherited feature

C. some people seem to be very sensitive to noise

D. people sometimes seem to turn a deaf ear to noise

35. Psychologists have found that our later fears are determined largely by our _____.

A. home education　　B. school education

C. parents' lifestyle　　D. early experiences

Passage Two

Sea horses are unusual parents. The female sea horses lay the eggs, but unlike other creatures, it's the males that give birth to the young.

Male sea horse have a fold of skin on their bellies that forms a pocket, called a brood pouch. During the breeding season, the sea horse's pouch swells to receive eggs. A female sea horse lays up to 200 eggs at a time in the pouch. Then she swims off, leaving her male partner to care for the developing eggs and give birth to young sea horses. The female will return every day to check on her mate and the eggs, but she doesn't stay long, nor does she take part in the birth.

It takes from to six weeks for the eggs in the male's pouch to develop. During this time the male avoids open water and hides in sea grass. His big pouch makes it difficult form him to swim, so the male often uses his often uses his tail to grasp a piece of sea grass. Firmly, gripping the grass, he will stay perfectly still for hours or even days. The male sea horse will change his color to blend with his surroundings and avoid being seen by predators who will try to eat him or poke holes in his pouch to get the eggs.

The eggs hatch inside the male's pouch. When the babies begin moving around , the male sea horse knows it's time for them to be born. He grabs a sea grass stem with his tail and begins rocking, bending his body back and forth． This causes the opening to enlarge until it is wide enough for the first baby sea horse to shoot out. The father sea horse continues rocking, bending, and stretching his baby sea horse to shoot our. The father sea horse continues rocking, bending, and stretching his body so that the rest of the babies can be born. Sometimes he has to press his pouch against a rock or some stiff seaweed to force the young out.

Sea horse babies are born in groups of five or more. Sometimes it takes two days for the father sea horse to give birth to all his young. He is very tiered when it's over.

Soon after giving birth to one brood, the male will approach his mate and show her his empty pouch. This tells her he is ready to receive eggs again.

Passage Three

When 23- year-old Eric Atienza graduated from college last year, he didn't have a job. Not wanting to give up his apartment and move back with his parents, he did what many young Americans are doing: he signed up with a temp agency, which places workers on short-term jobs. Temporary workers such as Atienza comprise 20 per5cent of the US workforce. In 1985, 417,000 workers were classified as temporary help. In 2005, there are more than 2.5 million, according to Labour Department data.

Using temporary workers allows companies to increase or decrease the number of staff as their workloads change. It also allows companies to avoid the costs involved in hiring and firing long-term employees.

Many temp agency owners and career specialists say temping is a good way for recent graduates to get experience. "Short-term jobs let graduates try out different companies to find the best fit," said Pegi Wheatley, owner of McCall Staffing, a San Francisco temp agency.

But things don't always work out that way. "When I started temping, I had this notion that a temporary job could turn full-time. It worked for a friend of mine, but that didn't happen for me," , said Atienza, who quickly became bored with his office work. Atienza stayed with the temp agency because he could earn US $ 10 an hour doing office work. Other short-term jobs, such as working as a store clerk or in a café, pay about US $ 7.

But there were trade-offs for the higher pay. Because in the US, health insurance is provided through employer, most temps are not eligible for workplace health benefits. Atienza ran the risk that an accident or illness would land him in the hospital with no way to pay the bill. Other drawbacks, though less serious, still mean that temping for most graduates is exactly what its name implies ---- a temporary choice. Instability, gaps between contracts, lack of vacation time and isolation from other employees are often- cited negatives.

"Temping gave me the time to figure out what I wanted to do, because I could pay off my bills. But none of that came from the jobs themselves," said Atienza, who quit temping last month in favor of a full-time job.

41. Atienza took a short-term job mainly because _____.

A. he didn't want to give up his apartment

B. he liked to try out different companies

C. he wanted to get more experience

D. he couldn't find a long-term job

42. According to the passage, in the year of 2005, the United States had a workforce of more than _____.

A. 25 million
B. 12.5 million
C. 4.17 million
D. 2.5 million

43. Which is NOT mentioned as an advantage of temping?

A. It gives recent graduates experience.
B. It enables employers to adjust their workforce.
C. A temporary job will turn full-time.
D. Employers can reduce their costs.

44. Atinenza stayed with the temp agency for some time because_____.

A. he liked his office work
B. he was satisfied with the pay
C. his employer provided health insurance
D. he hated gaps between contracts

45. What does the word "trade-offs" in Paragraph 5 mean?

A. Benefits
B. Compromises
C. Risks
D. Disadvantages.

Passage Four

Scientists are hoping to eliminate malaria (疟疾) by developing a genetically modified mosquito that cannot transmit the disease. Malaria has long troubled the populations of South America, Africa, and Asia, where mosquito bites infect up to 500 million people a year with this serious and sometimes fatal parasitic blood disease. For generations, scientists have been trying to eliminate malaria by developing new drugs and using pesticide (杀虫剂) to wipe out local mosquito populations. But these measures aren't working ---- and some scientists, like Greg Lanzaro, say that because of drug resistance and population changes, malaria is actually more prevalent now than it was 20 years ago. Lanzaro says he has a better way to stop the spread of malaria : genetically modifying mosquitoes so they are unable to carry the disease.

Lanzaro and his colleagues are planning a multi- year project to produce malaria- resistant mosquitoes ---- and he thinks they can do it wihin five years. "We can get foreign genes into mosquitoes and they go where they're supposed to go," Lanzaro says, pointing out that scientists have already succeeded in genetically engineering mosquitoes that cannot transmit malaria to birds and mice. And, he says, scientists are quickly making progress on genes that block transmission of the disease to humans as well.

The most difficult part scientifically, Lanzaro says, is figuring out how to get the lab-engineered mosquitoes to spread their genes into natural populations After all, he points out, it's useless to engineer mosquitoes in the lab that can't transmit malaria when there are millions out in the wild that can. To solve this problem, Lanzaro wants to load up a mobile piece of DNA with the malaria- resistant gene, and then insert it into a group of mosquito embryos. The malaria-resistant gene would be integrated directly into the mosquitoes' DNA, making it impossible for those mosquitoes to tr5ansmit the parasite that causes malaria. In this way a small group of lab-raised mosquitoes could be released into the wild, and by interbreeding with wild mosquitoes, eventually transmit the beneficial gene to the entire population.

46. One reason for malaria to be more widespread now is that _____.
A. more people have moved to malaria-infected areas
B. mosquitoes have become resistant to pesticides
C. genetically modified mosquitoes still transmit the disease
D. mosquitoes bite as many as 500 million people a year

47. Lanzaro is hopeful that in a few year man can _____.
A. start to eliminate malaria
B. cure parasitic blood diseases
C. prevent mice form transmitting parasites
D. acquire immunity against malaria

48. Lanzaro is confident that scientists can block the transmissions of malaria to humans because _____.
A. natural mosquito populations do not change
B. scientists have succeeded with birds and mice
C. foreign genes always go where they are required
D. lab- raised mosquitoes will not be resistant to drugs

49. What is the most difficult part of Lanzaro's project?
A. Spreading malaria- resistant genes into natural mosquito populations
B. Raising malaria- resistant mosquitoes
C. Making genes that block the transmission of malaria
D. Identifying malaria-resistant genes

50. According to the passage, a fundamental way to wipe out malaria is to _____.
A. develop new malaria-resistant drugs
B. produce effective pesticides to kill mosquitoes
C. change the genetic makeup of mosquitoes
D. remove people from malaria – infected areas

Passage Five

According to Scott Adams, creator of the comic strip (系列漫画) Dilbert, the annual performance review is "one of the most frightening and weakening experiences in every employee's life. Adam's stor5ies and comic figures poke fun at the workplace, but his characterization of people's feelings about the annual performance review has its serious side. Although a recent study of 437 companies indicates that effective annual performance reviews can help raise profits, most employees of those companies hate them.

In theory, annual performance reviews are constructive and positive interactions between managers and employees working together to attain maximum performance and strengthen the organization. In reality, they often create division, undermine morale, and spark anger and jealousy. Thus although the object of the annual performance review is to improve performance, it often has the opposite result. A programmer at an IT firm was stunned to learn at her annual performance review that she was denied a promotion because she wasn't a "term player." What were the data used to make this judgment? She didn't smile in the company photo.

Although this story might sound as if it came straight out of Dilbert, it is a true account of one woman's experience. By following a few ideas and guidelines from industry analysis, this kind of ordeal can be avoided:

To end the year with a positive and useful performance review, managers and employees must start the year by working together to establish clear goals and expectations.

It may be helpful to allow employees to propose a list of people associated with the company who will be in a good position to assess their performance at the end of the year; these people may be co-workers, suppliers ,or even customers.

Goals should be measurable but flexible, and everyone should sign off on the plan.

By checking employees' progress at about nine months, managers can give them a chance to correct mistakes and provide guidance to those who need it before the year is out.

When conducting the review, managers should highlight strengths and weaknesses during the past year and discuss future responsibilities, avoiding punishment or blame.

In short, when employees leave their performance reviews, they should be focusing on what they can do better in the year ahead, not worrying about what went into their files about the past.

51. In his comic strip Dilbert, Scott Adams _____.
   A. make fun of working people
   B. tells a story about as woman employee
   C. promote team spirit among co-workers
   D. mocks annual performance reviews

   A. reducing efficiency
   B. creating tension
   C. undermining morale
   D. inducing anger
53. The word "ordeal" Paragraph 3 probably refers to _____.
   A. likelihood of promotion
   B. depressive experience
   C. poor performance
   D. unrealistic expectation
54. The annual performance reviews, to be effective, must focus on _____.
   A. making employees aware of their company's future goals
   B. involving employees in assessing their own performance
   C. encouraging employees to achieve better future performance
   D. highlighting what responsibilities employees have failed in
55. The general attitude of the author toward Adam's comic strip Dilbert is _____.
   A. Negative. B. positive C. neutral D. unclear

Passage one

They may be one of Britain's most successful exports and among the world's most popular TV shows, ranking alongside the World Cup Final and the Olympics Games opening ceremony in terms of audience .But, in Britain, beauty competitions are unfashionable. To most people, beauty contests seems as out-dated as bowing. Nicolas Baker, a lawyer in London， said that "As much as I think it's fine for women to do it ,I don't think it's interesting and in fact ,I think they're irrelevant to today. Last year, Miss World was broadcast to 142 countries, but it wasn't even shown in the country where it started in 1951.

It wasn't always this way in Britain .Once beauty queens dated footballers ,traveled the world and were guaranteed fame 、 fortune and fun. Now, they open new supermarkets, are sponsored by dry-cleaning companies and if they're lucky, they get free clothes form supermarkets.

When Francesca Marchant was crowned Miss Sussex in 1969 it was something to be extremely proud of "I came from a small town, and all my friends were green with envy when they found out I'd won. My boyfriend at the time thought it was terrific and boasted to everyone that he was going out with a beauty queen.

But the good times couldn't last .The feminist movement gathered momentum. Some women were determined to bring an end to these "cattle shows". Nowadays, saying that you were a beauty queen just doesn't sound good .

Miss World organizers claim that contestants are judged on qualities other than just their physical appearance. But Jacqueline Gold, England's representative at this year's contest, was not chosen because of her academic record. The Miss World Website states that she "left school having gained many computer qualifications, and certificates in First Aid and Lift Saving." meaning ,not much of an education.

The only time contests attract attention now is because of the protesters. At the 1999 Miss World in Britain around 60 demonstrators hurled flour bombs and fought with the police. They denounced the beauty contest as a "sexist cattle market". They waved banners saying "fat girls are cool" and "women's bodies are not for sale".

Passage two

A particular area in which assumptions and values differ between cultures is that of friendship. Friendships among Americans tend to be shorter and less intense than these among people from many other cultures. At least many observers from abroad have this impression .Because Americans are taught to be self-reliant, because they live in a very mobile society, and for many other reasons as well, they tend to avoid deep involvement with other people. Furthermore, Americans tend to "compartmentalize" their friendships, having their "friends at work", "friends at school", a "tennis friend", and so on. Americans often seem very friendly even when you first meet them. This friendliness does not usually mean that the American is looking for a deeper relationship.

The result of these attitudes and behaviors is sometimes viewed by foreigners as an "inability to be friends". Other times it is seen as a normal way to retain personal happiness in a mobile, ever-changing society .

People normally have in their minds stereotypes about people who are different from themselves. Stereotypes are based on limited and incomplete experience and information, but they shape people's thoughts and expectations. Americans have many stereotypes about foreign students in general (for example, that they are very hard working intelligent , and rich that they do speak English well) and about particular categories of foreign students (Chinese are polite and good at mathematics, for example, or Italians are emotional). And foreign students have their own stereotypes of Americans, for example, that they are arrogant ,rude, and generous.

There are two stereotypes that often affect male-female relationships involving U.S. and foreign students. The first is the idea, held by some foreign males, that American females are invariably willing, if not anxious to have sex. The second common stereotype, held by some American females, is that male foreign students have no interest in American females other than having with them. The existence of these and other stereotypes can give rise to considerable misunderstanding and can block the development of a mutually satisfactory relationship between particular individuals . Stereotypes seem unavoidable given the way the human mind seeks to categorize and classify information, so it is not realistic to suppose people can " forget their stereotypes". But they can be aware of their stereotypes, and be ready to find exceptions to them.

36. Consuming friendship, Americans_____
A. look for a deeper relationship in a close circle
B. avoid deep relationship with other people
C. are friendly at first but do not remain so later on
D. do not make good friends

37. The word "compartmentalize" in the first paragraph means "_____"
A. separate in categories B. treat differently C. evaluate accordingly D. judge fairly

38. The author's attitude toward the American type of friendship seems to be _____.
A. approving B. critical C. biased D. objective

39. According to the author, stereotypes concerning male-female relationships involving U.S. and foreign students are _____
A. helpful B. meaningless C. harmful D. useless

40. According to the author, stereotypes seem unavoidable because _____.
A. it is natural to have them
B. it is not easy to find exceptions
C. they provide better understanding
D. they contribute to friendship

Passage Three

In The Birth Order Book: Why You Are the Way You Are (2004), Dr. Kevin Leman notes that 21 of the first 23 Americans in space were first-born males or only children . More than half of United States presidents have been first-borns or first –born boys. It's a pretty significant finding historically, because families used to be bigger than they are today.

In addition to being high achievers, older children also generally have higher IQs (智商) than younger ones. Researchers have noted that the more kids a family has, the lower each child's Individual IQ tends to be. They give a few reasons for this:

Parents only have so much time, attention, and money. The more kids they have, the more these things are divided. First-borns initially get the entire parental-time pic. What's more, the ratio of grown-ups to kids decreases with each new baby. So the younger ones are surrounded by more children's language on average than the older kids.

Some researchers think parental attention is the key to personality/birth-order differences. In his book Born to Rebel, psychologist Frank Sulloway competition for Mom and Dad's attention is the thing that really shapes our personalities and, in fact, has shaped history. He argues that we adapt our personalities as part of our strategy to seek favor from Mom and Dad. Younger siblings (兄弟姐妹) tend to become rebels . Sulloway studied political activists and found that later-born activists were more radical than their first –born peers.

The conclusion of his book is that sibling competition for parental attention can affect society as a whole in times of revolution Thomas Jefferson , Karl Marx and Fidel Castro were all younger siblings , for example.

As compelling as this all is , it's also something we should probably take with caution, there are other things that happen to us in life besides the addition of siblings to our families .A parent can die ; a hurricane can leave us homeless ; we can catch a life-threatening disease. Any one of these things will probably have more of an effect on our personalities than the presence of siblings.

A 2002 study bore this out. After interviewing 535 undergraduates, researchers concluded that personality differences related to birth order were " folklore", although IQ and achievement differences were widely supported by research .

41. What is implied by "the younger ones are surrounded by more children's language on average than the older kids" (Para.3)?

A. Younger children need parental rather than siblings' attention

B. Younger children need siblings' rather than parental attention

C. Younger children feel uncomfortable with more siblings

C. are winners in getting parental attention

D. seldom adapt their personalities

43. Which of the following is NOT mentioned as a factor shaping personality?

A. Death of a parent B. Children's language

C. A natural disaster D. A fatal disease

44. What is the meaning of "folklore" in the last paragraph?

A. Traditional customs and beliefs　　B. Verified hypotheses

C. Widely held unsupported notions　　D. Tales or sayings preserved orally

45. Which of the following statements is proposed by researchers?

A. Later-borns do not compete for attention

B. First-borns tend to become rebels

C. Later-borns are prone to diseases

D. First-borns achieve more than younger ones.

Passage Four

Does money buy happiness? It's sometimes said that scientists have found no relationship between money and happiness, but that's a myth, says University of Illinois psychologist Ed Denier.

The connection is complex. In fact, very rich people rate substantially higher in satisfaction with life than very poor people do, even within wealthy nations. He says "There is overwhelming evidence that money buys happiness." said economist Andrew Oswald of the University of Warwick in England. The main debate, he said, is how strong the effect is.

Oswald recently reported a study of Britons who won between $2,000 and $250,000 in a lottery (彩票拍奖). As a group, they showed a boost in happiness averaging a bit more than one point on a 36-point scale when surveyed two years after their win, compared to their levels two years before they won.

Daniel Kahneman, a Nobel-Prize winner and Princeton economist, and colleagues, recently declared that the notion that making a lot of money will produce good overall mood is "mostly illusory". They noted that in one study, members of the high-income group were almost twice as likely to call themselves "very happy" as people from households with incomes below $2,000. But other studies, rather than asking for a summary estimate of happiness, follow people through the day and repeatedly record their feelings. These studies show less effect of income on happiness, Kahneman and colleagues said.

There is still another twist to the money-happiness story. Even though people who make $150,000 are considerably happier than those who make $40,000, it's not clear why, says psychologist Richard E.Lucas of Michigau Sate University.

Researchers conclude that any effect of money on happiness is smaller than most daydreamer assume. "People exaggerate how much happiness is bought by an extra few thousand," Oswald said. "The quality of relationships has a far bigger effect than quite large rise in salary….It's much better advice, if you're looking for happiness in life, to try to find the right husband or wife than to try to double your salary."

46. The main purpose of this passage is to discuss____

A. the contributions of household incomes to happiness

B. the complex relationship between money and happiness

C. the positive relations of money to happiness

D. the negative relations of money to happiness

47. Andrew Oswald's study____

A. proves money has little effect on happiness

B. gives evidence that money buys happiness

C. rejects the relation between money and happiness

D. shows that lottery brings people happiness

48. The word "illusory"(para.4)is closest in meaning to"___".

A. dramatic　　B. ordinary　　C. drastic　　D. imaginary

49. According to Lucas, richer people's happiness____

A. comes from their high income

B. may not be directly related to their high income

C. is boosted by their high income

D. is not derived from their high income

50. According to Oswald, a more important factor in bringing about happiness may be good____.

A. health B.feelings C. marriage D. salaries

Passage Five

When Frand Dale look over as publisher of Los Angeles Herrald-Examiner, the organization had just ended a ten-year strike. There was much bitterness and as he told us. "Everybody that I found there had lost their curiosity, they'd lost their cutting edge, there was no interest, they just hung on….I had a real problem." His very first task was to introduce himself to everybody, to thank them for their loyalty to that point, and to allow them to express their concerns and frustrations. To questions like "What makes you think you can make this thing go?" he responded, "I don't know yet, but in thirty days I'll come back to you and let you know what I've found." He recruited a task force of the best people from throughout the Hearst Corporation to do a crash study, and in thirty days he had a written report on what needed to be done, which he shared with the staff. He had taken the all-important first steps to establish mutual trust, without which leadership would not have been possible.

Trust is the emotional glue that binds followers and leaders together. The accumulation of trust is a measure of the legitimacy of leadership. It cannot be demanded or purchased; it must be earned. Trust is the basic ingredient of all organizations, the lubrication that maintains the organization and it is as mysterious and difficult a concept as leadership—and as important.

One thing we can say for sure about trust is that if trust is to be generated, there must be predictability, the capacity to predict another's behavior. Another way of putting it is to say that organizations without trust would resemble the ambiguous nightmare of Kafka's The Castle, where nothing can be certain and nobody can be relied on or be held responsible. The ability to predict outcomes with a high probability of success generates and maintains trust.

51. What was Frand Dale's problem when he became the publisher of Los Angeles Herrald-Examiner?

A. He had lost interest in his publishing career.

B. He found it hard to introduce himself to everyone.

C. Los Angeles HeRrald- Examiner was in extreme difficulty.

D. Los Angeles HeRrald- Examiner was on a ten-year strike.

52. What was the result of Frank Dale's first steps?

A. Mutual trust was established B. Efficiency was improved.

C. A task force was recruited. D. His promises were fulfilled.

53. According to the author, how could trust be established?

A. By economic means. B. By legitimate measure.

C. By authoritative command. D. By effort or action.

54. What does the author think about trust?

A It is hard to accumulate. B. It can make organization go.

C. It can help establish authority. D. It is relatively easy to acquire.

55. For what propose is Kafka's The Castle mentioned?

A. To show people's behaviors are predictable. B. To describe the nightmare of the story.

C. To demonstrate the importance of trust. D .To prove no one can be relied on.

Passage One

The job was done, and it was time for a last cigarette. Eddie began tapping the pockets of his overalls, looking for the new packet of Marlboro be had bought that morning. It was not there.

It was as he swung around to look in his toolbox for the cigarettes that Eddie saw the lump. Right in the middle of the brand new bright red carpet, there was a lump. A lump the size of a packet of cigarettes.

"I've done it again!" said Eddie angrily. "I've left the cigarettes under the carpet!"

He had done this once before, and taking up and refitting the carpet had taken him two hours. Eddie was determined that he was not going to spend another two hours in this house. He decided to get rid of the lump another way. It would mean wasting a good packet of cigarettes, nearly full, but anything was better than taking up the whole carpet and fitting it again. He turned to his toolbox for a large hammer.

Eddie didn't want to damage the carper itself, so he took a block of wood and placed it on top of the lump. Then he began to beat the block of wood as hard as he could .He kept beating, hoping Mrs. Vanbrugh wouldn't hear the noise and come to see what he was doing. It would be difficult to explain why he was hammering the middle of her beautiful new carpet…The lump was beginning to flatten out.

After three or four minutes, the job was finally finished. Eddie picked up his tools, and began to walk out to his car. Mrs. Vanbrugh accompanied him. She seemed a little worried about something.

"Young man, while you were working today. you didn't by any chance see any sign of Armand, did you ?Armand is my bird. I let him out of his cage, you see, this morning, and he's disappeared. He likes to walk around the house, and he usually just comes back to his cage after an hour or so and gets right in. Only today he didn't come back. He's never done such a thing before, it's most peculiar…."

"No, madam, I haven't seen him anywhere," said Eddie, as he reached to start the car.

And he saw his packet of Marlboro cigarettes on the panel, where he had left it at lunchtime….

And he remembered the lump in the carpet….

Passage Two

If two scientists at Los Alamos National Laboratory are correct, people will still be driving gasoline-powered cars 50 years from now, giving out heat-trapping carbon dioxide into the atmosphere--and yet that carbon dioxide will not contribute to global warming. The scientists, F. Jeffrey Martin and William L. Kubic Jr. are proposing a concept, which they have patriotically named Green Freedom for removing carbon dioxide from the air and turning it back into gasoline.

The idea is simple. Air would be blown over a liquid solution which would absorb the carbon dioxide. The carbon dioxide would then be extracted and subjected to chemical reactions that would turn it into fuel. Although they have not yet built a fuel factory, or even a small prototype, the scientists say it is all based on existing technology. "Everything in the concept has been built, is operating or has a close cousin that is operating." Dr. Martin said. The proposal does not violate any laws of physics, and other scientists have independently suggested similar ideas.

In the efforts to reduce humanity's emissions of carbon dioxide, three solutions have been offered: hydrogen-powered cars, electric cars and biofuels. Biofuels are gasoline substitutes produced from plants like corn or sugar cane. Plants absorb carbon dioxide as they grow, but growing crops for fuel takes up wide strips of land. Hydrogen-powered cars emit no carbon dioxide, but producing hydrogen requires energy, and if that energy comes from coal-fired power plants, then the problem has not been solved. The problem with electric cars is that they have typically been limited to a range of tens of miles as opposed to the hundreds of miles that can be driven on a tank of gas.

Gasoline, it turns out, is an almost ideal fuel (except that it produces carbon dioxide).If it can be made out of carbon dioxide in the air, the Los Alamos concept may mean there is little reason to switch, after all.

"It's definitely worth pursuing," said Martin I. Hoffert, a professor of physics at New York University. "It has a couple of pieces to it that are interesting." Other scientists also said the proposal looked promising but could not evaluate it fully because the details had not been published.

C. It is based on existing technology.
D. Carbon dioxide can be converted into fuel.

B. There might be a safety problem in hydrogen production.
C. They may still be a cause of global warming.
D. They are not suitable for long-distance travel.

38. If what is proposed by the two scientists become true, _____.

A. air pollution will become a thing of the past
B. there will be no need for gasoline substitutes
C. people will be able to use much cheaper energy
D. there will be no more biofuel-powered vehicles

39. Which of the following can best describe the attitude of Martin I. Hoffert to the proposal?

A. Indifferent B. Positive C. Suspicious D. Critical

40. The passage is mainly written to_____.

A. introduce a new concept B. compare different energy sources

C. stress the importance of gasoline D. discuss solutions to global warming

Passage Three

In her international bestselling Talk to the Hand, author Lynne Truss argues that common courtesies such as saying "Excuse me" are practically extinct. There are certainly plenty who would agree with her.

Is it true? We decided to find out by experiments. In dozens of American cities, our reporters performed two experiments: "door tests" (would anyone hold one open for them?); and "document drops" (who would help them retrieve a pile of "accidentally" dropped papers?). Along the way, the reporters encountered all types: men and women of different races, ages, professions, and income levels.

While 90 percent of the people passed the door test, only 55 percent passed the document drop. Are people less likely to help others when doing so takes extra effort or time? Not always, the reporters found. Take the pregnant woman who thought nothing of bending down to help us with our papers. Or the woman named Liz who balanced two coffees, her keys and her wallet on a takeout tray with one hand, while picking up papers off the wet pavement with the other .Her reason for helping? "I was there," she said.

Overall, men were the most willing to help, especially when it came to document drops. In those, men offered aid 63 percent of the time, compared to 47 percent among women. Of course, men were not entirely democratic about whom they'd help. All of them held the door for the female reporter, and were more than twice as likely to help her pick up fallen papers than they were to help our male reporter.

By far, the most common reason people cited for being willing to go out of their way to help others was their upbringing. "It's the way I was raised." said one young woman who held a door open despite struggling with her umbrella on a rainy day in Brooklyn.

We realize this isn't a rigorous scientific study, but we believe it is a reasonable real-world test of good manners around the globe. And it's comforting to know that in a place where millions of people push one another each day to get ahead, they're able to do it with a smile. Hey, if they can make nice here, they can make nice anywhere.

41. Which of the following is the best word to describe he experiments?

A. Scientific. B. Biased C. Revolutionary. D. Realistic

42. The examples of the pregnant woman and Liz are used to show that some people____.

A. may take the trouble to help others B. won't take the trouble to help others

C. may help others save time D. won't help others save time

43. According to the experiments, _____.

A. women are more careful B. woman are more likely to need help

C. men are more ready to help D. men are more democratic in helping others.

44. Helping others is a behavior that is largely influenced by _____.

A. social norm B. family education C. specific situation D. personal character

45. The results of the experiments have shown that common courtesies_____.

A. Are still with us B. are disappearing

C. vary with professions D. need rigorous study

Passage Four

Within a large concrete room, cut out of a mountain on a freezing-cold island just 1,000 kilometers from the North Pole, could lie the future of humanity.

The room is a vault(地下库) designed to hold around 2 million seeds, representing all known varieties of the world's crops. It is being built to safeguard the word's food supply against nuclear war, climate change, terrorism, rising sea levels, earthquakes and the collapse of electricity supplies "if the worst came to the worst, this would allow the world to reconstruct agriculture on this planet," says Cary Fowler, director of the global Crop Diversity Trust ,an independent international organization promoting the project .

The Norwegian (挪威的)government is planning to create the seed bank next year at the request of crop scientists. The $3 million vault will be built deep inside a sandstone mountain on the Norwegian Arctic island of Spitsbergen. The vault will have metre-thick walls of reinforced concrete and will be protected behind two airlocks and high-security doors.

The vault's seed collection will represent the products of some 10,000 years of plant breeding by the world's farmers, though most are no longer widely planted, the varieties contain vital genetic properties still regularly used in plant breeding .

To survive, the seeds need freezing temperatures. Operators plan to replace the air inside the vault each winter, when temperatures in Spitsbergen are around -18 °C. But even if some disaster meant that the vault was abandoned, the permanently frozen soil would keep the seeds alive. And ever accelerated global warming would take many decades to penetrate the mountain vault.

"This will be the world's most secure gene bank.," says Fowler. "But its seeds will only be used when all other samples have gone for some reason."

The project comes at a time when there is growing concern about the safety of existing seed banks around the world .Many have been criticized for their poor security, ageing refrigeration(冷藏）systems and vulnerable electricity supplies.

The scheme won UN approval at a meeting of the Food and Agriculture Organization in Rome in October 2005. A feasibility study sail the facility "would essentially be built last forever."

46. The Norwegian vault is important in that _____.

A. the seeds in it represent the rarest varieties of world's crops.

B. the seeds in it could revive agriculture if the worst thing should happen.

C. it is built deep in a mountain on a freezing-cold Arctic island.

D. it is strong enough against all disasters caused by man and nature

47. The seed bank project was proposed by _____.

A. the Norwegian government　　B. Norwegian farmers

B. Spitsbergen residents　　D. agricultural scientists

48. The seeds in the vault will be stored _____.

A. as samples of world crop varieties　　B. as products of world plant breeding

C. for their valuable genetic properties　　D. for their resistance to plant diseases

49. For the seed bank project to be successful, the most important factor is probably_____.

A. constructing tight airlocks　　B. maintaining high security

C. keeping freezing temperatures　　D. storing large quantities of seeds

50. Which of the following statements is true?

A. The Norwegian vault models after existing seed banks

B. The Spitsbergen seed bank is expected to last 10,000 years

C. The existing seed banks have potential problems

D. The UN financed the Spitsbergen seed bank

Passage Five

Probably the hardest of setting goals is the first step of actually deciding to take action! The first barrier facing most people is the incorrect assumption that goals are only for business people. The reality is everyone sets goals mentally throughout the day. There are always occasions where something has to be done at a particular time or in a particular place. Simple examples could be getting up at certain time in order to be at work, or to meet with a friend for a leisure activity.

The beauty of having goals is the uniqueness of each one to the goal setter. Whether it is personal, financial, business, or spiritual, they are all specific to that person and their circumstances.

The most important part initially is to write them down. Having goals written down gives you incredible power while helping you to focus on this area.

Aim for something that will stretch you while remaining achievable. If you achieve your goal too easily, it is not high enough to make any significant change in your life and needs to be adjusted. On the other hand, if you consistently miss the goals, re-evaluate, and consider setting them a little lower as you will only get discouraged and probably give up. The aim is to keep growing, and moving into a more satisfactory position for your particular circumstances.

As you obtain the levels that you have set for yourself, always include a small reward at each point. This might only be a small thing in the early days like a meal out or a weekend vacation.

Remember that these changes will not happen overnight and there will be a period of time when nothing seems be happening. This is why the goals need to be detailed and as specific as possible with a consequence and benefit.

Allow some time on a daily basis to educate yourself on how to make the necessary adjustments in your life. This could include listening to a CD, or reading a book on motivation etc.

A simple method to start with could be one goal in the main areas of life to be achieved in one month, six months, twelve months or five years .break that down further into a daily, weekly and monthly system. Stay focused and disciplined to achieve all that you desire.

51. The simple examples in Paragraph 1convey the message that _____.
A. goals are set mostly for important things
B. most people know when it is time to set goals
C. people set goals to get things done all the time
D. it is necessary to set goals occasionally

52. The charm of having goals is that each goal is _____.
A. important B. motivated C. special D. spiritual

53. A good goal is one that _____.
A. keeps growing all the time
B. is high enough yet attainable
C. moves one into a satisfactory position
D. is evaluated from time to time

54. Goals have to be detailed so that people _____.
A. can know their achievements at each stage
B. will eventually reach the levels set for themselves
C. may get small rewards such as a meal out
D. can adjust them on various occasions

55. For a goal to be achieved, one has to _____.
A. believe in what he is doing
B. adapt oneself to new changes
C. divert from routine sometimes
D. concentrate on it until it is attained

Passage One

The other day my son asked me if he could ride up to his elementary school on his bike and meet his friend. He wanted the both of them to ride back to our house so they could play video games and jump on the trampoline. I have to admit, part of me wanted to say no. We can go pick him up or his parents can bring him over here, I thought. But my son is eleven years old now. And after all, I do let him ride his bike to school. But I also drive my daughter to school and I can see him on the way, making sure he is getting there safely.

My husband thinks I am too overprotective. I don't care to let my children walk anywhere without one of us going along. As you pull out of our neighborhood, there is a shopping center across the street. My son always asks if he can ride his bike or walk over to the drugstore by himself. But crossing that street is just too dangerous. The cars fly around the corner like they're driving in a car race. What if he gets hit? What is some teenage bullies are hanging out in the parking lot?

I want so much to give my children the freedom that I enjoyed having when I was growing up but I hesitate to do so because there are dangers around every corner. Too many kidnaps, too many sex offenders. I went online and discovered there are 41 sex offenders in my area alone.

I honestly don't think my mom worried about such things when her children were young.

Growing up in the 1970s was indeed a different time. I never wore a helmet when I rode a bike. We were all over the neighborhood, on our bikes and on foot, coming home for dinner and then back out again until dark. We rode in the back of the truck, didn't wear seatbelts. Passage Two

About a century ago more people would not have appreciated the study of a foreign language as they do today. Gone are those days when patriotism towards one's own language was a major obstacle to learning foreign languages, a time when most nations were trying to throw their alien rulers out of their countries in their freedom struggles. Gone are those days when people were proud of their mother or father tongues and considered that their native languages alone will suffice the need to survive. Language skills today have become as important as other business and career skills like IT, vocational or professional skills. Thus learning a foreign language today has become essential for an individual whether it is for careers, growing a business, or even to make an impression.

All that one needs to possess these days is a drive to learn a foreign language and there are all kinds of institutes and courses that teach various foreign languages like French, German, Spanish, and Japanese. Today's world economy has bridged the barriers of race, sex, color and religion and the world had become a smaller place. Today's businesses also demand language skills to expand and grow in other countries. Tens and hundreds of businesses world wide are expanding and growing their business by promoting them in countries other than their countries of origin. The tremendous growth of the Internet has further increased the demand for language skills. In Canada an official rule also says that all commercial establishments must have their websites created both in English and French, the official languages of the country.

Language can also ease race and border barriers. You are more welcome in an alien nation if you know the language of the people there and can converse in their tongue. People in these countries immediately respect you and think you care about their culture as much as they do because in any culture language is the key identity.

37. One of the reasons for not studying a foreign language in the past is _____.

A. it was too difficult　　B. it was not allowed

C. it was seen as disloyalty　　D. it was taught by foreign rulers

38. According to the article, which of the following is true?

A. People's language skills are better than in the past.

B. Foreign language skills are of vital importance.

C. It's easier nowadays to learn a foreign language.

D. People today are not proud of their native language.

39. What does "to make an impression" (Paragraph 1) probably mean?

A. To remember things.　　B. To express ideas.

C. To show respect.　　D. To be liked by others.

40. The world has become smaller because of _____.

A. business expansion　　B. the growth of the Internet

C. a globalized economy　　D. the learning of foreign languages

41. According to the article, the growth of the Internet requires_____.

A. more foreign language skills　　B. more bilingual websites

C. better command of English　　D. more commercial establishments

42. People in a foreign country will treat you with more respect if you speak their language because _____.

A. they think you love their country

B. they think you understand their culture

C. it's easier for them to communicate with you

D. they believe you are a good language learner

Passage Three

You may have wondered why the supermarkets are all the same. It is not because the companies that them lack imagination. It is because they all aim at persuading people to buy things.

In the supermarket, it takes a while for the mind to get into a shopping mode. This is why the area immediately inside the entrance is known as the "decompression zone". People need to slow down and look around, even if they are regulars. In sales terms this area is a bit of a loss, so it tends to be used more for promotion.

Immediately inside the first thing shoppers may come to is the fresh fruit and vegetables section. For shoppers, this makes no sense. Fruit and Vegetables can be easily damaged, so they should be bought at the end, not the beginning, of a shopping trip. But what is at work here? It turns out that selecting good fresh food is a way to start shopping, and it makes people feel less guilty about reaching for the unhealthy stuff later on.

Shoppers already know that everyday items, like milk, are invariably placed toward the back of a store to provide more opportunities to tempt customers. But supermarkets know shoppers know this, so they use other tricks, like placing popular items halfway along a section so that people have to walk all along the aisle looking for them. The idea is to boost "dwell time": the length of time people spend in a store.

Traditionally retailers measure "footfall", as the number of people entering a store is known, but those numbers say nothing about where people go and how long they spend there. But nowadays, a piece of technology can fill the gap: the mobile phone. Path Intelligence, a British company tracked people's phones at Gunwharf Quays, a large retail centre in Portsmouth- not by monitoring calls, but by plotting the positions of handsets as they transmit automatically to cellular networks. It found that when dwell time rose 1% sales rose 1.3%.

Such techniques are increasingly popular because of a deepening understanding about how shoppers make choices. People tell market researchers that they make rational decisions about what to buy, considering things like price, selection or convenience. But subconscious forces, involving emotion and memories, are clearly also at work.

43. In Paragraph 2, "decompression zone" is the area meant to _____

A. offer shoppers a place to have a rest　　B. prepare shoppers for the mood of buying

C. encourage shoppers to try new products　　D. provide shoppers with discount information

44. Putting fruit-and-vegetable section near the entrance takes advantage of shoppers'_____

A. count how many people enter a store　　B. measure how long people stay at a store

C. find out what people buy in a store　　D. monitor what people say and do in a store

46. What happened at Gunwharf Quays showed that sales_____.

A. was in direct proportion to dwell time

B. was reversely linked to dwell time

C. was affected more by footfall than by dwell time

D. was affected more by dwell time than by football

47. The author argues that shoppers_____.

A. exert more influence on stores than they imagine

B. are more likely to make rational choices than they know

C. tend to make more emotional decisions than they think

D. have more control over what they buy than they assume

48. The best title for the passage is _____.

A. New Technology Boosts Stores' Sales B. How Shoppers Make Choices in Stores

C. Rational and Irrational Ways of Shopping D. The Science behind Stores' Arrangements

Passage Four

A very important world problem is the increasing number of people who actually inhabit this planet. The limited amount of land and land resources will soon be unable to support the huge population if it continues to grow at its present rate.

So why is this huge increase in population taking place? It is really due to the spread of the knowledge and practice of what is becoming known as "Death Control". You have no doubt heard of the term" Birth Control". "Death Control" is something rather difficult. It recognizes the work of the doctors and scientists who now keep alive people who, not very long ago, would have died of a variety of then incurable diseases. Through a wide variety of technological innovations that include farming methods and the control of deadly diseases, we have found ways to reduce the rate at which we die. However, this success is the very cause of the greatest threat to mankind.

If we examine the amount of land available for this ever-increasing population, we begin to see the problem. If everyone on the planet had an equal share of land, we would each have about 50,000 square metres. This figure seems to be quite encouraging until we examine the amount of usable land we actually have. More than three-fifths of the world's land cannot produce food.

Obviously, with so little land to support us, we should be taking great care not to reduce it further. But we are not! Instead, we are consuming its "capital"- its nonrenewable fossil fuels and other mineral deposits that took millions of years to form but which are now being destroyed in decades. We are also doing the same with other vital resources not usually thought of as being nonrenewable such as fertile soils, groundwater and the millions of other species that share the earth with us.

It is a very common belief that the problems of the population explosion are caused mainly by poor people living in poor countries who do not know enough to limit their reproduction. This is not true. The actual number of people in an area is not as important as the effect they have on nature. Developing countries do have an effect on their environment, but it is the populations of richer countries that have a far greater impact on the earth as a whole.

49. According to the article, what contributes to the population increase?

A. Birth explosion. B. Birth Control

C. Death Control. D. Technological innovations.

50. The word "incurable" in Paragraph 2 means _____

A. common B. epidemic C. untreatable D. unknown

51. There isn't enough land to support human beings because_____

A. there are more seas than land in the world

B. most of the world's land is unusable

C. the world's land has already been taken up

D. the world's land is not distributed equally

52. In Paragraph 4 the writer implies that fertile soils are _____

A. limited B. renewable C. productive D. nonrenewable

53. What does "to limit their reproduction" is the last paragraph mean?

A. To control death. B. To produce less goods.

C. To increase production. D. To practice birth control.

54. What do you think the writer is really concerned about?

A. Long life spans. B. Population increase.

C. Overuse of resources. D. The success of "Death Control".

Passage Five

All day long, you are affected by large forces. Genes influence your intelligence and willingness to take risks. Social dynamics unconsciously shape your choices. Instantaneous perceptions set off neutral reactions in your head without you even being aware of them.

Over the past few years, scientists have made a series of exciting discoveries about how these deep patterns influence daily life. Nobody has done more to bring these discoveries to public attention than Malcolm Gladwell.

Gladwell's noncontroversial claim is that some people have more opportunities than others. Bill Gates was lucky to go to a great private school with its own computer at the dawn of the information revolution.

Gladwell's book is being received by reviewers as a call to action for the Obama Age. It could lead policy makers to finally reject policies built on the assumption that people are coldly rational profit-maximizing individuals. It could cause them to focus more one policies that foster relationships, social bonds and cultures of achievement.

Yet, I can't help but feel that Glad well and others who share his emphasis are preoccupied with the coolness of the discoveries. They've lost sight of the point at which the influence of social forces ends and the influence of the self-initiating individual begins.

Most successful people begin with two beliefs: the future can be better than the present, and I have the power to make it so. They were often showered by good fortunes, but relied at crucial moments upon achievements of individual will. These people also have an extraordinary ability to consciously focus their attention. Control of attention is the ultimate individual power. People who can do that are not prisoners of the stimuli around them. They can choose from the patterns in the world and lengthen their time horizons.

Gladwell's social determinism overlooks the importance of individual character and individual creativity. And it doesn't fully explain the genuine greatness of humanity's talents. As the classical philosophers understood, examples of individual greatness inspire achievement more reliably than any other form of education.

55. In Paragraph 2, "these deep patterns" refers to all of the following EXCEPT _____.

A. genes B. social dynamics

C. instantaneous perceptions. D. neutral reactions

56. According to the author, Gladwell's new book Outliers is mainly_____.

C. to discuss why some people have more opportunities than others

D. to explain why Bill Gates is much luckier than others

57. It can be seen from Paragraph 5 that Gladwell's book _____.

A. has become quite influential

B. is beginning to influence Obama's policies

C. has received severe criticisms

D. assumes that people just pursue maximum profits

58. According to the author, the most fundamental individual power is _____

A. individual will　　B. control of attention

C. a good character　　D. exceptional creativity

59. The author believes that individual greatness is more closely related to _____.

A. social forces and genes　　B. good luck and education

C. individual character and creativity　　D. individual genes and good education

60. This passage is probably a _____

A. book review　　B. book report　　C. political essay　　D. news report

Passage One

Loneliness has been linked to depression and other health problems. Now, a study says it can also spread. A friend of a lonely person was 52% more likely to develop feelings of loneliness. And a friend of that friend was 25% more likely to do the same.

Earlier findings showed that happiness, fatness and the ability to stop smoking can also grow like infections within social groups. The findings all come from a major health study in the American town of Framingham, Massachusetts.

The study began in 1948 to investigate the causes of heart disease. Since then, more tests have been added, including measures of loneliness and depression.

The new findings involved more than 5,000 people in the second generation of the Framingham Heart Study. The researchers examined friendship histories and reports of loneliness. The results established a pattern that spread as people reported fewer close friends.

For example, loneliness can affect relationships between next-door neighbors. The loneliness spreads as neighbors who were close friends now spend less time together. The study also found that loneliness spreads more easily among women than men.

Researchers from the University of Chicago. Harvard and the University of California, San Diego, did the study. The findings appeared last month in the Journal of Personality and Social Psychology.

The average person is said to experience feelings of loneliness about 48 days a year. The study found that having a lonely friend can add about 17 days. But every additional friend can decrease loneliness by about 5%, or two and a half days.

Lonely people become less and less trusting of others. This makes it more and more difficult for them to make friends---and likely that society will reject them.

John Cacioppo at the University of Chicago led the study. He says it is important to recognize and deal with loneliness. He says people who have been pushed to the edges of society should receive help to repair their social networks.

The aim should be to aggressively create what he calls a "protective barrier" against loneliness. This barrier, he says, can keep the whole network from coming apart.

31. Besides loneliness, which of the following can also spread among people?

A. Friendship B. Happiness C. Depression D. Smoking

32. The Framingham Heart Study starting from 1948_____.

A. expanded its research topics

B. involved 5,000 patients of depression

C. identified loneliness as one key factor for heart disease

D. examined the relationship between loneliness and depression

33. Which of the following is true about the spread of loneliness?

A. It leads to a gradual loss of friends.

B. It is a common phenomenon among women.

C. It is often found in the neighborhood.

D. It ruins the relationships between close friends.

34. Having a lonely friend, you are more likely to _____.

A. strengthen your friendship

B. develop new friendship

C. Increase the sense of loneliness

D. reduce the sense of loneliness

35. According to John Cacioppo at the University of Chicago, loneliness can_____.

A. result in aggressiveness

B. Cause people to be overprotective

C. Infect social networks

D. Push people to the verge of poverty

36. What is the main idea of the passage?

A. Loneliness can spread.

B. Loneliness is linked to depression.

C. Lonely people tend to grow fat.

D. Lonely people need more friends.

Passage Two

California has a new program called the Digital Textbook Initiative. "Starting this fall with high school math and science, we will be the first state in the nation to provide schools with a state-approved list of digital textbooks." That was Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger in June. talking about his effort to get schools to use materials available free online. He listed reasons why he thinks digital textbooks make sense.

California approves traditional textbooks in six-year cycles. Digital ones can offer the latest information. They lighten the load of school bags. They save paper and tress, and make learning more fun and interactive. And above all, he said they help schools with their finances.

The state has had to make severe cuts in school spending because of deep financial problems. More than six million students attend California public schools.

Earlier this year, California invited content developers to offer digital math and science materials for high schools. These had to meet at least 90% of the state's learning requirements. Specially trained teachers examined 16 textbooks and approved ten of them.

Six of the ten were published by the CK12 Foundation, a nonprofit group that had been developing digital science and math books for about two years. The foundation paid teachers and other education professionals to write and edit them. The money came from a group financed by the Khosla Family.

California cannot require schools to use the digital textbooks. Individual school districts will have to decide for themselves.

Susan Martimo, a California Department of Education official, says she does not expect widespread use right away. He best guess is that some schools with a lot of technology will be the first to use them, but only in addition to their traditional books.

School administrators point out that the texts may be free online, but students need a way to access them. Not everyone has a computer or electronic reader. Schools could print out copies, but that would not help the environment. Also, there is the cost to train teachers to use digital textbooks effectively.

37. The Digital Textbook Initiative _____.

A. will probably take effect in six years

B. covers all the high school subjects

C. has been approved by all states

D. is advocated by California state governor

38. The main reason for promoting digital textbooks is to _____.

A. help save money

B. benefit the environment

C. provide interesting materials

D. reduce students' heavy burden

39. The digital textbooks were approved by _____.

A. trained teachers　　B. content developers

C. Khosla Family　　D. Ck12 Foundation

40. What is true of CK12Foundation?

Passage Three

Doctors in Britain are warning of an obesity time bomb, when children who are already overweight grow up. So, what should we do? Exercise more? Eat less? Or both? The government feels it has to take responsibility for this expanding problem.

The cheerful Mr. Pickwick, the hero of the novel by Charles Dickens, is seen in illustrations as someone who is plump (胖乎乎的) ---and happy. In 18th century paintings beauty is equated with rounded bodies and soft curves. But nowadays being overweight is seen as indicating neither a cheerful character nor beauty but an increased risk of heart disease and stroke.

So what do you do? Diet? Not according to England's chief medical officer, Sir Liam Donaldson. He says that physical activity is the key for reducing the risks of obesity cancer and heart disease. And the Health Secretary John Reid ever said that being inactive is as serious a risk factor in heart disease as smoking.

So, having bought some cross trainers, how much exercise should you do? According to Sir Liam Donaldson, at least 30 minutes of moderate activity five days a week. Is going to the gym the answer? Luckily for those who find treadmills (跑步机) tedious , the Health Development Agency believes that physical activity that fits into people's live may be more effective. They suggest taking the stairs rather than the lift. Walking up escalators, playing active games with your children, dancing or gardening. And according to a sports psychologist , Professor Biddle, gyms 'are not making the nation fit', and may even cause harm .

There's new scientific evidence that too much exercise may actually be bad for you. Scientists at the University of Ulster have found that unaccustomed exercise releases dangerous free radicals that can adversely affect normal function in unfit people. The only people who should push their bodies to that level of exercise on a regular basis are trained athletes.

So, should we forget about gyms and follow some experts' advice to increase exercise in our daily life? After all, getting off the bus a stop early and walking the rest of the way can't do any harm! One final thought. How come past generations lacked gym facilities but were leaner and fitter than people today?

43. This passage is mainly about _____.

A. how to keep fit and avoid fatness

B. increased risks for overweight people

C. the dangers of exercise in the gym

45. Why does the author mention Mr. Pickwick in Charles Dickens' novel?

A. He was portrayed in an 18th century painting.

B. He is the hero of a world famous novel.

C. He suffered from heart disease and stroke.

D. He is the image of being plump and happy.

46. According to Sir Liam Donaldson, what is the best way to avoid obesity?

A. Being on diet.　　B. Giving up smoking .

C. Being as inactive as possible.　　D. Doing physical activities.

A. Walking up escalators, dancing or gardening.

48. It can be inferred from the last paragraph that

A. too much exercise may actually be bad for health

B. experts' advice cannot be always followed

C. past generations longed for gym facilities we have today

D. moderate daily-life exercise can make us leaner and fitter

Passage Four

A metaphor is a poetic device that deals with comparison. IT compares similar qualities of two dissimilar objects. With a simple metaphor, one object becomes the other: Love is a rose. Although this does not sound like a particularly rich image, a metaphor can communicate so much about a particular image that poets use them more than any other type of figurative language. The reason for this is that poets compose their poetry to express what they are experiencing emotionally at that moment. Consequently, what the poet imagines love to be may or may not be our perception of love. Therefore, the poet's job is to enable us to experience it, to feel it the same way as the poet does.

Let's analyze this remarkably unsophisticated metaphor concerning love and the rose to see what it offers. Because the poet uses a comparison with a rose, first we must examine the characteristics of that flower. A rose is spectacular in its beauty, its petals (花瓣) are nicely soft, and its smell is pleasing. It's possible to say that a rose is actually a feast to the senses of sight, touch, and smell. The rose's appearance seems to border on perfection, each petal seemingly symmetrical in form. Isn't this the way one's love should be? A loved one should be a delight to one's senses and seem perfect. However, there is another dimension added to the comparison by using a rose. Roses have thorns. The poet wants to convey the idea that roses can be tricky. So can love, the metaphor tells us. When one reaches out with absolute trust to touch the object of his or her affection, ouch, a thorn can cause great harm! "Be careful," the metaphor warns: Love is a feast to the senses, but it can overwhelm us, and it can also hurt us and cause acute suffering. This is the poet's perception of love--an admonition (劝诫). What is the point? Just this: It took almost 14 sentences to clarify what a simple metaphor communicates in only four words! That is the artistry and the joy of the simple metaphor.

49. According to the passage, what is a metaphor?

A. A comparison between two different objects with similar features.

B. A contrast between two different things to create a vivid image.

C. A description of two similar objects in a poetic way.

D. A literary device specially employed in poetry writing.

50. The main idea of this passage is that _____.

A. love is a true joy

B. true love comes once in a lifetime

A. release anger　　B. entertain the readers

C. express poets' ideas　　D. reward the senses

Passage Five

Some 23 million additional U.S. residents are expected to become more regular users of the U.S. health care system in the next several years, thanks to the passage of health care reform. Digitizing medical data has been promoted as one way to help the already burdened system manage the surge in patients. But putting people's health information in databases and online is going to do more than simply reduce redundancies. It is already shifting the very way we seek and receive health care.

"The social dynamics of care are changing," says John Gomez, vice president of Eclipsys, a medical information technology company. Most patients might not yet e willing to share their latest CT scan images over Facebook, he notes, but many parents post their babies' ultrasound images, and countless patients nowadays use social networking sites to share information about conditions, treatments and doctors.

With greater access to individualized health information—whether that is through a formal electronic medical record, a self-created personal health record or a quick instant-messaging session with a physician-the traditional roles of doctors and patients are undergoing a rapid transition.

"For as long as we've known, health care has been 'I go to the physician, and they tell me what to do, and I do it,'" says Nitu Kashyap, a physician and research fellow at the Yale Center for Medical Informatics. Soon more patients will be arriving at a hospital or doctor's office having reviewed their own record, latest test results and recommended articles about their health concerns. And even more individuals will be able to skip that visit altogether, instead sending a text message or e-mail to their care provider or consulting a personal health record or smart-phone application to answer their questions.

These changes will be strengthened by the nationwide shift to electronic medical records, which has already begun. Although the majority of U.S. hospitals and doctors' offices are still struggling to start the changeover, many patients already have electronic medical records—and some even have partial access to them. The My Chart program, in use at Cleveland Clinic , the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas and other facilities, is a Web portal (门户) through which patients can see basic medical information as well as some test results.

Medical data is getting a new digital life, and it is jump-starting a "fundamental change in how care is provided," Gomez says.

55. Which of the following is the best title for this passage?

57. According to John Gomez, many patients use social networking sites to _____.

A. change their social interactions

B. post their latest CT scan images

C. share information about their health care

Passage One

Until last spring, Nia Parker and the other kids in her neighborhood commuted to school on Bus 59. But as fuel prices, the school district needed to find a way to cut its transportation costs. So the school's busing company redrew its route map, eliminating Nia's bus altogether. Now Nia and her neighbors travel the half mile to school via a "walking school bus"—a group of kids, supervised by an adult or two, who make the walk together.

Like the rest of us, school districts are feeling pinched by rising fuel costs—and finding new ways to adapt. The price of diesel fuel has gone up 34 percent in the past two years. For the typical American school district, bus bills total 5 percent of the budget. As administrators look to trim, busing is an inviting target, since it doesn't affect classroom instruction (or test scores). More than one third of American school administrators have eliminated bus stops or routes in order to stay within budget.

Many parents are delighted to see their kids walking to school, partly because many did so themselves: according to a 1969 survey, nearly half of school kids walked or biked to school, compared with only 16 percent in 2001. Modern parents have been unwilling to let kids walk to school for fear of traffic, crime or simple bullying, but with organized adult supervision, those concerns have diminished.

Schools and busing companies are finding other ways to save. In rural areas where busing is a must, some schools have even chosen four -day school weeks. Busing companies instruct drivers to eliminate extra stops from routes and to turn off the engine while idling. They are also using computer software to determine the most fuel-efficient routes, which aren't always the shortest ones.

There could be downsides, however, to the busing cutbacks. If every formerly bused student begins walking to school, it's an environmental win--but if too many of their parents decide to drive them instead, the overall carbon footprint can grow. Replacing buses with many more parent-driven cars can also increase safety risks: A 2002 report concluded students are 13 times safer on a school bus than in a passenger car, since buses have fewer accidents and withstand them better due to their size. And some students complain about the long morning hikes, particularly when the route contains a really big hill.

31. The "walking school bus"_____.

A. does not consume fuel　　B. aims to keep children fit

C. seldom causes traffic jams　　D. is popular with school kids

32. In America the responsibility for busing kids to school lies with_____.

A. individual schools　　B. school districts

C. Teachers　　D. parents

33. As regards walking to school, modem parents seem much concerned with the _____.

A. time spent on the way　　B. changes in the route

C. kids' physical strength　　D. safety of their children

34. To save money, some schools choose to _____.

A. take the shortest routes　　B. shorten the school week

C. give drivers better training　　D. use fuel-efficient buses

35. Busing cutbacks may eventually lead to _____.

A. fiercer competition among bus companies

B. more students taking public transportation

C. an increase in carbon dioxide emissions

D. a decrease in the safety of school buses

36. Which of the following best describes the author's attitude towards busing cutbacks?

A. Favorable.　　B. Critical.

C. Objective.　　D. Indifferent.

Passage Two

People are living longer than ever, but for some reason, women are living longer than men. A baby boy born in the United States in 2003 can expect to live to be about 73, a baby girl, about 79. This is indeed a wide gap, and no one really knows why it exists. The greater longevity (长寿) of women, however, has been known for centuries. It was, for example, described in the seventeenth century. However, the difference was smaller then--the gap is growing.

A number of reasons have been proposed to account for the differences. The gap is greatest in industrialized societies, so it has been suggested that women are less susceptible to work strains that may raise the risk of heart disease and alcoholism. Sociologists also tell us that women are encouraged to be less adventurous than men (and this may be why they are more careful drivers, involved in fewer accidents).

Even smoking has been implicated in the age discrepancy. It was once suggested that working women are more likely to smoke and as more women entered the work force, the age gap would begin to close, because smoking is related to earlier deaths. Now, however, we see more women smoking and they still tend to live longer although their lung cancer rate is climbing sharply.

One puzzling aspect of the problem is that women do not appear to be as healthy as men. That is, they report far more illnesses. But when a man reports an illness, it is more likely to be serious.

Some researchers have suggested that men may die earlier because their health is more strongly related to their emotions. For example, men tend to die sooner after losing a spouse than women do. Men even seem to be more weakened by loss of a job. (Both of these are linked with a marked decrease in the effectiveness of the immune system.) Among men, death follows retirement with an alarming promptness.

Perhaps we are searching for the answers too close to the surface of the problem. Perhaps the answers lie deeper in our biological heritage. After all, the phenomenon is not isolated to humans. Females have the edge among virtually all mammalian (哺乳动物的) species, in that they generally live longer. Furthermore, in many of these species the differences begin at the moment of conception; there are more male miscarriages (流产). In humans, after birth, more baby boys than baby girls die.

37. What can we learn from the first two paragraphs?

A. Men's lifespan remains almost unchanged.

B. Researchers have found the causes of the age gap.

C. The more advanced a society, the greater the age gap

D. The age gap was noticed only recently.

38. As is suggested in Paragraph 2, the two factors relevant to women's longer lifespan are _____

A. diseases and road accidents

B. industrialization and work strains

C. their immunity to heart disease and refusal of alcohol

D. their endurance of work strains and reluctance for adventure

39. According to Paragraph 3 , which of the following statements is true?

A. The great number of male smokers contributes to the age gap.

B. The growing number of smoking women will narrow the age gap.

C. Female workers are more likely to smoke than male workers.

D. Smoking does not seem to affect women's longevity.

40. Which of the following phenomena makes researchers puzzled?

A. Men's health is more closely related to their emotions.

B. Though more liable to illnesses, women still live longer.

C. Men show worse symptoms than women when they fall ill.

D. Quite a number of men die soon after their retirement.

41. The word "edge" in Paragraph 6 means "_____"

A. margin B. side

C. advantage D. quality

42. What is the main idea of the passage?

A. The greater longevity of women remains a mystery.

B. That women are healthier than men well explains their longevity.

C. People are living longer as a result of industrialization.

D. Women are less emotionally affected by difficulties in life.

Passage Three

Many are aware of the tremendous waste of energy in our environment, but fail to take advantage of straightforward opportunities to conserve that energy, For example, everyone knows that lights should be switched off when no one is in an office. Similarly, when employees are not using a meeting room, there is no need to regulate temperature.

Fortunately, one need not rely on human intervention to conserve energy. With the help of smart sensing and network technology, energy conservation processes such as turning off lights and adjusting temperature can be readily automated. Ultimately, this technology will enable consumers and plant managers to better identify wasteful energy use and institute procedures that lead to smarter and more efficient homes, buildings and industrial plants.

Until now, wires and cables for power and connectivity have limited the widespread adoption of sensor(传感器) networks by making them difficult and expensive to install and maintain. Battery-powered wireless networks can simplify installation and reduce cost. But their high power consumption and the corresponding need for regular battery replacement has made wireless networks difficult and costly to maintain. Nobody wants to replace hundreds or thousands of window sensor batteries in a large building on a regular basis.

The promise of wireless sensor networks can only be fully realized when the wiring for both the data communication and the power supply is eliminated. Doing so requires a true battery-free wireless solution, one that can utilize energy harvested directly from the environment. To facilitate the widespread deployment of wireless sensor networks, GreenPeak has developed an ultra-low-power communication technology that can utilize environmental energy sources such as light, motion and vibration. This technology, employing on-board power management circuits and computer software to monitor energy harvesters and make the best use of harvested energy, enables sensors to operate reliably in a battery-free environment.

Wireless sensor networks deployed in our offices and homes will have an enormous impact on our daily lives, helping to build a smarter world in which energy is recycled and fully utilized. These wireless platforms, equipped with advanced sensing capability, will enable us to better control our lives, homes and environment, creating a truly connected world that enables people worldwide to live in a more comfortable safer, and cleaner environment.

43.By“human intervention”(Paragraph 2), the author refers to_____.

D. the adoption of smart sensing and network technology

A. have to be replaced from time to time

B. contain metals that pollute the environment

C. require automatic recharging

D. are difficult and costly to maintain

45.Battery—free wireless sensor networks are made possible by the fact that_____.

A. there is energy in the environment to be utilized

B. the cost of using them has been drastically reduced

C. modern data communication consumes little energy

D. improve the daily lives of people worldwide

Passage Four

If you haven't heard or seen anything about Road Rage in the last few months, you've probably been avoiding the media. there have been countless stories about this new and scary phenomenon, considered a type of aggressive driving. You have most likely encountered aggressive driving and/or Road Rage recently if you drive at all.

While drunk driving remains a critical problem, the facts about aggressive driving are surely as disturbing. For instance, according to the national highway transportation safety association, 41,907 people died on the highway last year. Of those fatalities, the agency estimates that about two-thirds were caused at least in part by aggressive driving behavior.

Why is this phenomenon occurring more than ever now, and why is it something that seemed almost nonexistent a few short years ago? Experts have several theories and all are probably partially correct. One suggestion is sheer overcrowding. In the last decade, the number of cars on the roads has increased by more than 11percent, and the number of miles driven has increased by 35 percent. However, the number of new road miles has only increased by 1 percent. That means more cars in the same amount of activities into the day, stress levels have never been higher. Stress creates anxiety, which leads to short tempers. These factors, when combined in certain situations, can spell Road Rage.

You may think you are the last person who would drive aggressively, but you might be surprised. For instance, have you ever yelled out loud at a slower driver, sounded the horn long and hard at another car or sped up to keep another driver from passing? If you recognize yourself in any of these situations, watch out!

Whether you are getting angry at other drivers, or another drivers in visibly upset with you, there are thing you can do to avoid any major confrontation. If you are susceptible to Road Rage, the key is to discharge your emotion in a healthy way. If you are the target of another driver's rage, do everything possible to get away from the other driver safely, including avoiding eye contact and getting out of their way.

49. The first sentence in Paragraph 1 implies that_____.

A. people not interested in the media know little about recent happenings

B. Road Rage has received much media coverage in the last few months

C. one may be raged by media reports and wants to avoid them

D. the media coined the term "Road Rage" only a few months ago

50. According to the National Highway Transportation Safety Association, last year_____.

B. more people were killed by aggressive driving than by drunk driving

C. two thirds of drivers were killed by aggressive driving

D. 41,907 people feel victim to aggressive driving

51. Which of the following is NOT mentioned as a cause of aggressive driving?

A. Increasing number of cars.

B. Drivers' stress and anxiety.

C. Overcrowded roads.

D. Rush hour traffic.

52. The word "spell" in Paragraph 3 means "_____."

A. speak B. cause

C. describe D. spare

53. Which of the following characterizes aggressive driving?

A. Talking while driving. B. Driving fast.

C. Yelling at another driver. D. Sounding the horn when passing.

54. The last paragraph is intended to _____.

A. tell people how to cope with Road Rage

B. inform people how aggressive drivers could be

C. tell people how to control themselves when angry

D. warn people against eye contact with another driver

Passage Five

In the early 20th century, a horse named Clever Hans was believed capable of counting and other impressive mental tasks. After years of great performance, psychologists discovered that though Hans was certainly clever, he was not clever in the way everyone expected .The horse was cleverly picking up on tiny, unintentional bodily an facial signals given out not only by his trainer, but also by the audience. Aware of the" Clever Hans" effect, Lisa Lit at the University of California and her colleagues wondered whether the beliefs of professional dog handlers might similarly affect the outcomes of searches for drugs and explosives. Remarkably, Dr Lit found, they do .

Dr Lit asked 18 professional dog handlers and their dogs to complete brief searches. Before the searches, the handles were informed that some of the search areas might contain up to three target scents, and also that in two cases those scents would be marked by pieces of red paper. What the handlers were not told was that none of the search areas contained scents of either drugs or explosives. Any "detections" made by the teams thus had to be false.

The findings reveal that of 144 searches ,only 21 were clean (no alerts). All the others raised one alert or more .In total, the teams raised 225 alerts. While the sheer number of false alerts Dr Lit as fascinating, it was where they took place that was of greatest interest.

When handlers could see a red piece of paper, allegedly marking a location of interest, they were much more likely to say that their gods signaled an alert. The human handlers were not only distracted on almost every occasion by the stimulus aimed at them, but also transmitted that distraction to their animals-who responded accordingly. To mix metaphors, the dogs were crying "wolf" at the unconscious signal of their handlers.

How much that matters in the real world is unclear. But it might. If a handler, for example, unconsciously "profiled" people being sniffed by a drug or explosive-detecting dog at an airport, false positives could abound. That is not only bad for innocent travelers, but might distract the team from catching the guilty.

55. What did psychologists find out about Clever Hans?

A. He was as clever as people claimed.

B. He was really good at counting.

C. He could understand human language.

D. He merely responded to human signals.

56. Lisa Lit and her colleagues _____.

A. each search area contained three target scents

B. there was actually no target scent in the search area

C. some target scents may be labeled with a special mark

D. their dogs were expects to find the scents of red paper

58. What was most significant about the experiment, according to Dr. Lit?

A. The location of the false alerts.

C. The number of the false alerts.

D. The timing of the false alerts.

59. It can be concluded from the experiment that _____.

A. dog handlers are more likely to be distracted than their dogs

60. The author thinks that Dr. Lit’s findings _____.

A. should raise our concern in real life

B. may not be useful in real situations

C. should be backed up by further evidence

D. will be widely applied in the near future

A 10-year-old boy decided to study judo (柔道) despite the fact that he had lost his left arm in a terrible car accident .The boy began lessons with an old Japanese judo master, and he was doing well. But he couldn’t understand why, after three months of training, the master had taught him only one move.

“Sir,” the boy finally said. “shouldn’t I be learning more moves?”

“This is the only move you know, but this is the only move you’ll ever need to know,” the master replied.

Not quite understanding, but believing in his teacher, the boy kept training.

Several months later ,the master took the boy to his first tournament (锦标赛).

Surprising himself, the boy easily won his first two matches. The third match proved to be more difficult, but after some time, his opponent became impatient and charged; the boy was now in the finals.

This time, his opponent was bigger, stronger, and more experienced .For a while, the boy appeared to be overmatched. Concerned that the boy might get hurt, the referee called a time-out.

He was about to stop the match when the judo master intervened.

"No," the judo master insisted. "Let him continue."

Soon after the match resumed, his opponent made a critical mistake: he dropped his guard .Instantly, the boy used his move to pin him. The boy had won the match and the tournament .He was the champion.

On the way home, the boy and his judo master reviewed every move in each and every match .Then the boy summoned the courage to ask what was really on his mind.

"Sir, how did I win the tournament with only one move?"

"You won for two reasons," the master answered.

"First, you've almost mastered one of the most difficult throws in all of judo. Second, the only known defense for that move is for your opponent to grab your left arm."

A. The boy could not do other moves with only one arm.

B. It was the only move the master knew well.

D. His opponent would be helpless once he made that move.

36. What does the passage mainly tell us?

A. One can turn a weakness into an advantage.

B. It is very difficult to have a good teacher.

C. Even a disabled person can win a match.

D. Practice makes perfect.

Passage Two

My five-year-old daughter knew exactly what she wanted for Christmas of 1977, and told me so. Yes, she still would like the pink-and-green plastic umbrella, books, long nightgown, slippers—fine, But really, there was only one thing that mattered; a Barbie Townhouse, with all the accessories.

This was a surprise. Rebecca was not a Barbie girl, preferred stuffed animals to dolls, and wasn't drawn to play in a structured environment. Always a make-up-the-rules, design-my-own-world, do-it-my-way kid. Maybe, I thought, the point wasn't Barbie but the house, which she could claim for herself, since we'd already moved five times during her brief life.

Next day, I stopped at the mall. The huge Barbie Townhouse box was there: "3 Floors of High-Styled Fun! Elevator Can Stop on ALL Floors!" Some Assembly Required. Uh-oh. My track record for assembling things was miserable. Brooklyn-born, I was raised in apartment buildings in a family that didn't build things. A few years earlier, I'd spent one week assembling a six-foot –tall jungle gym from a kit containing so many parts. I spent the first four hours sorting and the last two hours trying to figure out why there were so many pieces. The day after I finished building it, as if to remind me of my limitations, a tornado (龙卷风) touched down close enough to scatter the jungle gym across an acre of field.

I assembled the Barbie Townhouse on Christmas Eve. Making it level ,keeping the columns from looking like they'd melted and been refrozen, and getting that elevator to work were almost more than I could manage. And building it in curse-free silence so my daughter would continue sleeping—added a layer of challenge. By dawn I was done.

Shortly thereafter, my daughter walked into the living room. Her surprise may not be real, but her delight was utterly genuine and moves me to this day, 34 years later. Rebecca had spurred me to do something I didn't think I could do. It was for her , and—like so much of the privilege of being her father—it brought me further outside myself and let me overcome doubts about my capacities.

Passage Three

It is all very well to blame traffic jam, the cost of petrol and the fast pace of modern life, but manners on the roads are becoming deplorable. Everybody knows that the nicest men become monsters behind the wheel .It is all very well ,again m, to have a tiger in the tank, but to have one in the driver's seat is another matter . You might tolerate the odd road-hog(占道者)， but nowadays the well-mannered motorist is the exception to the rule. Perhaps the situation calls for a "Be kind to Other Drives" campaign, otherwise it may get completely out of hand.

Road courtesy is not only good manners, but good sense too. It takes the most good-tempered of drivers to resist the temptation to hit back when subjected to uncivilized behavior .A friendly nod or a wave of acknowledgement in response to an act of courtesy helps to create an atmosphere of goodwill and tolerance so necessary in modern traffic conditions. But such acknowledgements of courtesy are all too rare today. Many drivers nowadays don't even seem able to recognize courtesy when they see it.

Contrary to general opinion, young drivers have better manners than their seniors. But this is short-lived in the world of modern driving where many drivers neither expect nor give any mercy. This may be encouraged on the battlefield but is our of place on the roads.

Lorry drivers say they have almost abandoned the practice of signaling cars to overtake when the road is clear, because many of the cars took too long to pass. They couldn't be bothered to select a lower gear. The car drivers, after overtaking, slowed down again and hogged the road. Again, a motoring magazine has recently drawn attention to the increasing number of drivers who never wait for gaps. "They manufacture them by force, using their direction indicators as a threat rather than a warning." Punch-ups(打群架) are quite common. It can't be long before we hear of pistols and knives being used.

Driving is essentially a state of mind. However technically skilled a driver may be, he can't be an advanced motorist if he is always arrogant and aggressive.

43. The author is most concerned about_____ .

A.traffic jam　　B. road maners

C.fast pace of life　　D. high cost of petrol

44. The word "deplorable"(Para.1)most probably means"_____".

A.more serious　　B.more tempting

C.disturbing　　D.noticeable

45.what is the main idea of Paragraph 2?

A.Many drivers tend to fight back against rude behaviors.

B. A little courtesy may help ease the tensions on the road.

C.Goodwill and tolerance may help relieve traffic jam.

D. Many drivers nowadays lack a good sense of courtesy.

46. It can be learned from Paragraph 3 that _____.

A.young drivers are more aggressive

B. young drivers would soon lose their good manners

C. elder drivers are more cautious

D. elder drivers should improve their driving skills

47. An example of good manners on the roads is .

A. signaling cars to overtake B. manufacturing a gap

C.selecting a lower gear D.using the direction indicator

48. According to the author, a good driver should_____.

A. be technically skilled B. have a good state of mind

C. be sympathetic with others D. take good care of his vehicle

Passage Four

On how the world has changed over the last 50 years, not all of it has been good. As you are looking for organic food information, you have obviously become aware that a better alternative exists and you are taking a critical look at the source and production practices of the companies producing the world's food supplies.

The purpose of organic food information is to give you an understanding of what is going into your food .You will see that there are many benefits to organic food that you didn't know before. The basis behind knowing about organic food information is the fact that farmers are resorting to using artificial fertilizers and pesticides(杀虫剂) to control disease and insect attack in order to produce more crops to satisfy growing demand. These artificial fertilizers leave something poisonous in and on the fruit and vegetables we consume which in turn is absorbed and stored by our bodies.

Even the quality of food has gone down in recent years. Today's fruits have nowhere near the Vitamin C levels they did at one time. However, with organic food information you learn that organic food has fifty percent more nutrients, minerals and vitamins than any other form of produce that has been grown under intensive farming. If you are eating non-organic produce you will have to eat more fruit in order to make up for this deficiency. But then the dangerous cycle continues since you will be eating more chemicals that are worse for your health than they are good for you.

Another aspect of organic food information is the production of meat and poultry (家禽). Most only consider produce when it comes to organic food information are being force fed. Ask yourself what happens to all these antibiotics and hormones when the animal is killed, the remaining of these antibiotics and growth hormones reside in the meat which are then consumed, digested and stored in human bodies. There is no way that an animal that isn't kept in healthy conditions can produce healthy food for humans to eat.

You have nothing to lose by trying organic product, not only will it be healthy for you but you will also be able to eat produce and meat the way they are supposed to be. You will likely be so impressed with the taste of organic fruit that you will never return to the mass-produced fruit again. While cost and availability can be a big issue for some, you can do a bit of research online and find a local store that stocks organic produce for a reasonable price.

49. It is stated in Paragraph 1 that organic food_____.

A. is considered as a better choice

B. is mostly supplied by world-famous companies

C. has become popular over the last 50 years

51. According to Paragraph 3. Organic food_____.

A. has gone down in quality B.has more nutrients

C.can replace mass-produced food D. lacks Vitamin C

52. What does the author say about meat and poultry?

A. Organic meat and poultry is hardly available.

B. A great amount of meat is consumed every year.

C.Merciless killing of the animals lowers their quality.

D. They may contain antibiotics and growth hormones.

53. In the last paragraph, people are advised to _____.

A. eat traditional produce and meat

B. return to mass-produced fruits

54.This passage is mainly about _____.

A. the benefits of organic food information

B. the challenges facing the world food industry

C. changes in food production practices

D. a growing demand for high quality food

Passage Five

Drinking wastewater? The idea may sound distasteful, but new federally funded research says more Americans are doing so—whether they know or not—and this reuse will be increasingly necessary as the U.S. population expands.

Treated wastewater poses no greater health risks than existing water supplies and, in some cases, may be even safer to drink, according to a report released by the National Research Council. "We believe water reuse is an option to deal with growing water scarcity, especially in coastal areas," says Jorg Drewes, an engineering professor at the Colorado School of Mines. "This can be done reliable without putting the public at risk," he says, citing technological advances. He says it's a waste not to reuse the nation's wastewater, because almost all of it is treated before discharge. This water includes storm runoff(径流) as well as used water from homes, businesses and factories.

In many places, the report says, the public does not realize it's drinking water that was treated after being discharged as wastewater somewhere upstream. For example, wastewater discharged into the Trinity River from Dallsa/Fort Worth flows south into Lake Livingston, the source for Houston's drinking water.

Despite the growing importance of this reuse, the report says there's been no systemic analysis of its extent nationwide since a 1980 study by the U.S.Environmental Protection Agency(EPA). Alan Roberson of the American Water Works Association says wastewater reuse is common, so the council's report is important but not surprising. Roberson expects this recycling will continue to increase, especially for irrigation and industrial needs. He says it will take longer to establish potable(适于饮用的) uses because of public nervousness about drinking wastewater, however treated.

"We have to do something to address water scarcity, " says Olga Naidenko, a senior scientist at the non-profit Environmental Working Group. "Less than 10% of potable water is used for drinking, cooking ,showering or dishwashing, We flush it down the toilet, literally." Technologies exist to safely treat the water,. she says,. although some are expensive.

The report says water reuse projects tend to cost more than most water conservation options but less than seawater desalination （脱盐）and other supply alternatives . It calls on the EPA to develop rules that set safe national standards.

55. As can be learned from Paragraph 1 , drinking wastewater _____ .

A. is to become a growing necessity

B. is well received by the Americans

C. has caused heated public debates

D. has become the dominant option

56. Which of the following statements would Jorg Drewes agree to ?

A. Water reuse may eventually put the public at risk.

B. Water reuse is preferable to wasting water.

C. Water reuse is far from a solution to water shortage.

D. Water reuse is possible only after greater tech advances.

57. Lake Livingston is mentioned to show that the public _____ .

A. accepts the fact of drinking wastewater calmly

B. is concerned about the safety of the drinking water

C. does not believe that wastewater is safe to drink

D. is not aware of the nature of their drinking water

58. According to Alan Roberson,_____ .

A. it is not safe to drink wastewater

B. the report has surprised the public

C. the report helps build up public confidence

D. the public has yet to accept drinking wastewater

59. Olga Naidenko's remarks emphasize _____ .

A. the recent progress

B. the existing problems

C. the new perspective

D. the potential risks

60. What does the report suggest to the EPA ?

A. Weighing different water conservation options.

B. Exploring new technologies to treat wastewater.

C. Setting up national standards for water reuse.

D. Monitoring water supplies at a national level.

Passage One

Five or six years ago, I attended a lecture on the science of attention. A philosopher who conducts research in the medical school was talking about attention blindness, the basic feature of the human brain that, when we concentrate intensely on one task, causes us to miss just about everything else. Because we can't see what we can't see, our lecturer was determined to catch us in the act. He had us watch a video of six people tossing basketballs back and forth, three in white shirts and three in black, and our task was to keep track only of the tosses among the people in white. The tape rolled, and everyone began counting.

Everyone except me. I'm dyslexic, and the moment I saw that grainy tape with the confusing basketball tossers, I knew I wouldn't be able to keep track of their movements, so I let my mind wander. My curiosity was aroused, though, when about 30 seconds into the tape, a gorilla came in among the players. She (we later learned a female student was in the gorilla suit) stared at the camera, thumped her chest, and then strode away while they continued passing the balls.

When the tape stopped, the philosopher asked how many people had counted at least a dozen basketball tosses. Hands went up all over. He then asked who had counted13, 14, and congratulated those who'd scored the perfect15.Then he asked, "And who saw the gorilla?"

I raised my hand and was surprised to discover I was the only person at my table and one of only three or four in the large room to do so. He'd set us up, trapping us in our own attention blindness. Yes, there had been a trick, but he wasn't the one who had played it on us. By concentrating so hard on counting, we had managed to miss the gorilla in the midst.

A. doing something improper
B. sleeping during the lecture
C. counting the basketball tosses
D. failing to notice something within sight

24.How many people in the room saw the gorilla in the video?

A.1 B.3or 4 C.13 or 14 D.15

25.Whom does "he " (last paragraph)refer to ?

Passage Two

There are few sadder sights than 8 piles of fan letters, lovingly decorated with hand drawings, suffering in a bin. The sparkly envelopes were addressed to Taylor Swift, a pop star much beloved by teenage and pre-teen girls.

"Dear Taylor," read one discarded message," I love you so much !!You are the best!!And you are really beautiful and cute !! I'm really enjoying your songs."

This along with hundreds of other similar letters sent from around the world, was discovered in a Nashville recycling disposal unit by a local woman. Swift's management was quick to reassure her admitting that they had been thrown out accidentally. The response may come as a disappointment to any devotee who imagines, as they compose their letters ,that Swift makes time to view each one personally .

Dealing with piles of fan mail is, however, an administrative burden for most celebrities. While some celebrities do like to go through their mail personally ,the majority simply do not have time .But the fate of their correspondence is something most committed fans will not wish and well on , says Lynn Zubermis, an expect in the psychology of London at West Chester University.

"There's this little bit of every fan that thinks theirs will be the one that stands but---it's not an expectation, but a hope that theirs will be seen by the celebrity."

While the relationship between the fan and the celebrity may exist only in the mind of the former, it stems from a deeply-rooted human lust for community and belonging, Zubermis believes. As a result, even receiving, a mass-produced letter of acknowledgement and a photo stamped with a reproduced signature can be a power experience.

"People have a tremendous need to connect with the person they are idolizing (偶像化)"she says ."They can't them up and say," Can we have coffee?" It's not about the autograph(签名）. It's about the moment of connection."

A.are too busy to read fan mail.

B.Are afraid of receiving fan mail.

C.Try their best to read fan mail themselves

D. Cute about the lute of fan mail

29. According to Zubermis , fans want their letters to be read because they_____.

A. hope to show their hand drawings

B. want the celebrities to see their talent

C. desire to get connected with the stars

D. dream of getting a photo of the stars

30. Which of the following will fans cherish the most?

B. The sense of being similar to their stars

C. The time spent with their stars

D. The autograph of their stars

Passage Three

Facelift(紧肤术) followed by a week on a beach in Thailand? Hip surgery with a side of shopping in Singapore? Over the last 10 years, Asia's rise on the medical tourism scene has been quick. Eastern nations dominate the global scene. Now Bali wants a slice of the action.

The Indonesian island recently opened its first facility specifically targeting medical tourists with packages and services, Bali international Medical Centre (BIMC) Nusa Dua. BIMC already has an international hospital in Kuta, which opened in 1998.

The new internationally managed facility offers surgical and non-surgical cosmetic procedures and dental care.

Unlike most of the region's hospitals, BIMC is designed to feel more like a spa or resort(度假村) than a medical facility..

The 50-bed hospital has a 24-hour medical emergency entrance and hotel-like lobby at the front of the building servicing the hospital's medical, and dental centers.

If you're a celebrity who doesn't want everyone to know you're here for a bit of lipo (吸脂术), no worries. There's a private entrance that leads to the CosMedic Centre , which offers views of a golf course.

BIMC has even teamed up with the nearby Courtyard by Marriott Bali, which provides specific after-care services like tailor-made meals and wellness programs for patients.

Latest technology and cool interiors are a start, but breaking into a regional industry that already has some of the world's top international hospitals will be tough, says Josef-Woodman, CEO of U.S.-based medical travel consumer guide Patients Beyond Borders(PBB).

"As a newcomer, Bali faces stiff competition from nearby international healthcare providers. To compete, Bali will to demonstrate a quality level of care and promote its services to the region and the world .On the positive side, Bali is blessed as one of the region's safest ,most popular tourist destinations, with a built -in potential to attract medical travelers."

The Indonesian island couldn't have picked a better time to get into the game, says PBB." The world population is aging and becoming weather at rates that surpass the availability of quality healthcare resources," says the company's research.

31.What does "medical tourism: (Para 1)probably mean?

A. Eradicating a disease during a trip

B. Attracting patients with package tours.

C. Cosmetic treatment and a tour in one.

D. Turning hospitals into tourist attractions.

32.How does BLMC differ from regular hospitals?

A. It offers cosmetic surgery.

B. It has better environment and services.

C. It accepts international patients.

D. It has more beds and longer service hours.

33.BIMC wishes to attract celebrities with its_____.

A. privacy measures B. first -class design

C. free golf course D. tailor-made meals

34.According to Woodman, BIMC_____.

A. threatens its regional competitor

B. will soon take the lead in the industry

C. needs further improvement

D. faces both challenges and opportunities

35.What can be concluded from the last paragraph?

A.The population is developing faster than medical resources.

B.Healthcare is hardly available for the aging population.

C.The world is in need of more quality medical care.

D.The world population is becoming older and richer.

Passage Four

For many of us, asking for help is it difficult concept. We may feel as if we are admitting a weakness that the world would not have known about, had we not asked for help.

Ironically, it's been my experience that people who are able to deliver well-positioned requests for help are seen as very strong individuals. When they demonstrate the humility (谦卑) to ask for help, they earn the respect of others. People who receive a heartfelt request for help are usually honored by the request. In turn we are strengthened by the very help that is provided.

One of my clients (we'll call her Kira) recently made a shift in how she was interacting with her boss. When asked to prepare presentations, she assumed that she was expected to go away, develop the content, deliver it at the required meeting and then wait for feedback from her boss. Her boss was highly regarded for the impact of his presentations, while Kira often felt that her presentations were lacking. When she took a hard look at how this approach was working for her. Kira recognized that she had not yet made use of her boss's support. She could learn far more about creating attractive presentations by walking through a draft with her boss—focusing on the content plus her delivery—and obtaining feedback earlier in the process rather than at the back end .So she made the request for his support.

The outcome? Her boss was delighted to coach Kira and was enthusiastic about the opportunity to put into use his own strength by teaching presentation skills more effectively to her. By taking the time to work together on preparation for a number of Kira's key presentations, she benefited from her boss's thought process and was able to distinguish the critical components to enhance her own presentations. Kira's presentations now have punch!_____

Some of us are uncomfortable asking for help because we believe that our request places burdens on the other person. Ironically, we may be missing an opportunity to show others how we value and respect them. People who know you and think well of you are often highly motivated to help. Furthermore, the more specific you can be about what you need from them, the easier it is for them to assist you.

36. Many people are unwilling to ask for help because they _____

A. are confident of themselves　　B. do not trust other people

C. are ashamed of doing so　　D. do not think it necessary

37. Which of the following may the author agree with?

A .Asking for help means admitting weaknesses.

B. Helping others is helping oneself.

C. Well-positioned requests for help are welcomed.

D. Weak people often need more help.

38. Kira's request for help_____

A. turned out rewarding　　B. was turned down

C. led to her promotion　　C. benefited her boss in return

39. "Kirs's presentations now have punch" means her presentations are_____

A. Forceful　　B. Controversial

C. well received　　D. highly motivating

40. The purpose of the passage is to_____

A. illustrate how to ask for help

B. show the importance of mutual help

C. call for attention to others' requests

D. encourage people to ask for help

Directions: In this section, you are required to read one quoted blog and the comments on it. The blog and comments are followed by questions or unfinished statements, each with four suggested answers A, B, C and D. Choose the best answer and mark your answer on the Answer Sheet.

A fascinating new study reveals that Americans are more likely to call their children "intelligent". while European parents focus on happiness and balance.

Here's what one parent had to say about the intelligence of her 3-year –old, which was apparent to her from the very first moments of her life.

"I have this vivid memory, when she was born of them taking her to clean her off. And she was looking all around. She was alert from the very first second. I took her out when she was six weeks old to a shopping mall to have her picture taken people would stop me and say: "What an alert baby." One guy stopped me and said, "Lady, she was an intelligent baby."

Not only are Americans far more likely to focus on their children's intelligence and cognitive skills, they are also far less likely to describe them as "happy" or "easy" children to parent.

"The U.S. unhealthy interest in cognitive development in the early years overlooks so much else" the researchers told us.

Comment 1:

Probably indicates more about difference in cultural attitudes towards humility and boasting than about parenting styles. Here in the Netherlands if someone called their child "intelligent" I'd be rolling my eyes, both because it's probably biased and overstated and because it's just a rotten thing to draw attention to, as if it's all about whose child is "better". Life isn't than much of a damn contest to us.

Comment 2:

Agreed! That would apply in Sweden too. Parenting is more focused on the child's well-being than social competition (there may be pressures here too, but it is not socially acceptable to express those things).

Comment 3:

I agree and I live in the U.S. Parents' opinions of their children's intellect are definitely biased and overstated. It is the most annoying thing to listen to. Beijing "advanced" at a young age has little if anything to do with their ability to learn as they get older and EVERY child is a genius if you give them a chance and an ear to listen to them. The happier the kid is, the smarter they will be. Happy and healthy is key.

41.The passage is mainly concerned with cultural differences in _____

A. bringing up one's children

B. describing one's children

C. social contest

D. choosing a place to live in

42. The word "alert" (para.3) is closest in meaning to"_____ "

A. intelligent B. easy-going

C. quick at noticing things D. happy

43. According to Comment1, in ten Netherlands, calling one's own child "intelligent" is _____

A. boasting B. acceptable

C. encouraging D. reasonable

44. What nationality is the writer of Comment2?

A. Dutch B. American

C. Swedish D. French

45. All of the following are true of Comment 3 EXCEPT that _____

A. it agrees with all the other comments

B. being happy and healthy is important

C. being intelligent at a young makes no sense

D. children's intellect varies from person to person

Passage One

Of all the lessons taught by the financial crisis, the most personal has been that Americans aren't so good at money-management. We take out home loans we can't afford. We run up sky-high credit-card debt. We don't save nearly enough for retirement.

In response, supporters of financial-literacy education are moving with renewed enthusiasm. School districts in states such as New Jersey and Illinois are adding money-management courses to their curriculums. The Treasury and Education departments are sending lesson plans to high schools and encouraging students to compete in the National Financial Capability Challenge that begins in March.

Students with top scores on that exam will receive certificates -but chances for long-term benefits are slim. As it turns out, there is little evidence that traditional efforts to boost financial know-how help students make better decisions outside the classroom. Even as the financial-literacy movement has gained steam over the past decade, scores have been falling on tests that measure how well students learn about things such as budgeting, credit cards, insurance and investments. A recent survey of college students conducted for the JumpStart Coalition for Personal Financial Literacy found that students who'd had a personal-finance or money-management course in high school scored no better than those who hadn't.

"We need to figure out how to do this the right way," says Lewis Mandell, a professor at the University of Washington who after 15 years of studying financial-literacy programs has come to the conclusion that current methods don't work. A growing number of researchers and educators agree that a more radical approach is needed. They advocate starting financial education a lot earlier than high school, putting real money and spending decisions into kids' hands and talking openly about the emotions and social influences tied to how we spend.

Other initiatives are tacking such real-world issues as the commercial and social pressures that affect purchasing decisions. Why exactly do you want those expensive brand-name shoes so badly? "It takes confidence to take a stand and to think differently," says Jeroo Billimoria, founder of Aflatoun, a nonprofit whose curriculum, used in more than 30 countries, aims to help kids get a leg up in their financial lives ."

"This goes beyond money and savings"

21. The financial-literacy education is intended to_____.

A. help Americans to overcome the financial crisis

B. enable Americans to manage money wisely

C. increase Americans' awareness of the financial crisis

D. renew Americans' enthusiasm about money-management

22. According to the author, the National Financial Capability Challenge will be_____.

A. well-received B. costly C. rewarding D. ineffective

23.By saying that "the financial-literacy movement has gained steam"(Para .3), the author means that the movement_____.

A. has gone through financial difficulties B. has received much criticism

C. has been regarded as imaginative D. has been more and more popular

24. Lewis Mandell suggests that we should figure out how to _____.

A. help students score better in money-management courses

B. improve the social awareness of financial education

C. carry out financial-literacy education properly

D. manage money in a more efficient way

25. Jeroo Billimoria is most likely to agree that commercial and social pressures make one's purchasing decisions_____.

A. difficult B. feasible C. unwise D. acceptable

Passage Two

Cheating is nothing new. But today, educators and administrators are finding that instances of academic dishonesty on the part of students have become more frequent -and are less likely to be punished - than in the past . Cheating appears to have gained acceptance among good and poor students alike.

Why is student cheating on the rise? No one really knows .Some blame the trend on a general loosening of moral values among today's youth. Others have attributed increased cheating to the fact that today's youth are far more pragmatic（实用主义的）than their more idealistic predecessors. Whereas in the late sixties and early seventies，students were filled with visions about changing the world，today’s students feel great pressure to conform and succeed. In interviews with students at high schools and colleges around the country, both young men and women said that cheating had become easy. Some suggested they did it out of spite for teachers they did not respect. Others looked at it as a game. Only if they were caught, some said, would they feel guilty." People are competitive," said a second-year college student named Anna, from Chicago. There's an underlying fear. If you don't do well, your life is going to be ruined. The pressure is not only form parents and friends but from oneself .To achieve .To succeed .It’s almost as though we have to outdo other people to achieve our own goals,

Edward Wynne, a magazine editor, blames the rise in academic dishonesty on the schools. He claims that administrators and teachers have been too hesitant to take action .Dwight Huber, chairman of the English department at Amarillo .sees the matter differently, blaming the rise in cheating on the way students are evaluated. "I would cheat if I felt I was being cheated," Mr. Huber said. He feels that as long as teachers gives short-answer tests rather than essay questions and rate students by the number of facts they can memorize rather than by how well they can put information together, students will try to beat the system. "The concept of cheating is based on the false assumption that the system is legitimate and there is something wrong with the individual who are doing it," he said. "That's too easy an answer. We've got to start looking at the system."

Passage Three

Last week, I read a story about a 34-year-old British woman who is extremely afraid of metal forks. She's been using plastic ones for 17 years because the sound of a fork rubbing against a plate gives her a panic attack.

Strange, right? But she's not alone. While popular phobias(恐惧症) about snakes and spiders might get all of the attention, there are a wide variety of not-so-obvious horrors that make people nervous.

While some phobias might seem a bit silly, they can cause serious emotional distress. My co-worker Magda is terrified of pigeons, a phobia that is taking over her life. She won't walk in certain parts of the city and runs screaming from the subway when one of these "rats with wings" finds its way onto the platform. Another friend is disgusted with cheese. Once I saw her run away from a slice of it. So where does an irrational fear of cheese come from?

Are phobias something we inherit from our genes or do we acquire these unusual anxieties over time?

Ever since I can remember I have been unreasonably frightened of elevators. There was no terrible childhood experience and I am fine with confined spaces, but something about elevators makes me nervous. And so, when my boyfriend and I found ourselves trapped in an elevator last year - because these sorts of things always happen eventually- I was anticipating the worst.

While he gave me a suggestive eyebrow raise and proposed we "take advantage of the situation," I began screaming uncontrollably. I was far from turned on by the whole facing my worst nightmare thing.

However, after the fear subsided(消退)I realized that, yes, this was my greatest fear come true, and yet - it wasn't all that bad. Nervous and inconvenient maybe, but terrifying? Not so much.

Liberating yourself from a deep-seated phobia can be a long and difficult process, but sometimes it can be as simple as confronting it head on.

31. The 34-year-old British woman is extremely afraid of metal forks because_____
A. she has never used them before B. she has been injured by them before
C. she couldn't bear their sound on plate D. she is afraid that they may hurt her

32. The phrase "rats with wings" (Para. 3) refers to_____
A. strange birds B. pigeons C. devils D. exotic rats

33. The author's fear of elevators is the result of_____
A. her phobia for no reason B. her nervousness of being alone
C. her dislike of being in closed spaces D. her terrible experience

34. After the fear subsided, the author realized that_____
A. her boyfriend's help was important
B. she could have had a good time with her boyfriend
C. an elevator ride could be exciting
D. it was not as horrible as she had thought

35. The purpose for the author to share her experience is to_____
A. illustrate conquering a fear can be difficult
B. encourage people to overcome their fears
C. introduce what strange fears people have
D. explain why people have strange fears

Passage Four

The American public's obsession with dieting has led to one of the most dangerous health misconceptions of all times. Many television ads, movies, magazine articles, and diet-food product labels would have consumers believe that carbohydrates (碳水化合物) are bad for the human body and that those who eat them will quickly become overweight. We are advised to avoid foods such as potatoes, rice and white bread and opt for meats and vegetables instead. Some companies promote this idea to encourage consumers to buy their "carb-free" food products. But the truth is, the human body needs carbohydrates to function properly, and a body that relies on carbohydrates but is exhausted of this dietary element is not in good shape after all.

Most foods that we consume on a daily basis like potatoes and rice are loaded with carbohydrates. Contrary to popular belief, carbohydrates have many health benefits some fight diseases such as high blood pressure and heart disease, and others help to prevent cancer and stroke. Cutting these foods out of your diet may deprive your body of the many health benefits of carbohydrates.

One of the best benefits of carbohydrates is their ability to help to maintain the health of our organs, tissues, and cells. Scientific studies have shown that one type of carbohydrate called fiber reduces the risk of heart disease. Carbohydrates also contain antioxidants (抗氧化剂), which protect the body's cells from harmful particles with the potential to cause cancer.

This does not mean that the human body can survive on a diet composed entirely of carbohydrates. We also need certain percentages of proteins and fats to maintain healthy bodies. But carbohydrates certainly should not be avoided altogether. In fact, the food pyramid, the recommended basis of a healthy diet, shows that a person should consume six to eleven servings of breads and grains, as well as three to four servings each of fruits and vegetables - all carbohydrate-containing foods. It is easy to see why cutting carbohydrates out of a person's diet is not a good idea.

The only way to know what is truly healthy for your own body is to talk to a nutritionist or dietician, who can help you choose foods that are right for you as well as guide you toward a proper exercise program for weight loss, or muscle gain. These professionals will never tell you to cut out carbohydrates entirely! The bottom line: listen to the experts, not the advertisers!

36. As is used in Paragraph l, the word "exhausted" most possibly means_____

A. derived B. deprived C. startled D. starving

37. According to the author, advertisers who sell “carb-free” products_____

A. offer healthy options B. are responsible for obesity

C. are not telling the truth D. value consumers' well-being

38. Which of the following is NOT one of the health benefits of carbohydrates?

A. Prevention of fiber reduction. B. Prevention of heart disease.

C. Prevention of stroke. D. Prevention of cancer.

39. It can be inferred from the passage that a healthy diet_____ .

A. needs enough proteins but no fat for us to maintain energy

B. is balanced between carbohydrates, and proteins and fats

C. is low in carbohydrates and high in proteins and fats

D. contains equal amounts of carbohydrates and proteins

40. The main purpose of the passage is to _____ .

A. promote more physical exercise B. advocate a healthy diet

C. describe the variety of carbohydrates D. explain how to live a healthy life

Section B

One of the central principles of raising kids in America is that parents should be actively involved in their children's education: meeting with teachers, volunteering at school helping with homework, and doing a hundred other things that few working parents have time for. These obligations are so baked into American values that few parents stop to ask whether they’re worth the effort.

Until this January, few researchers did, either. In the largest-ever study of how parental involvement affects academic achievement, Keith Robinson and Angel L.Harris, two sociology professors at Duke, found that mostly it doesn’t. The researchers combed through nearly three decades' worth of surveys of American parents and tracked63 different measures of parental participation in kids' academic lives, from helping them with homework, to talking with them about college plans. In an attempt to show whether the kids of more-involved parents improved over time, the researchers indexed these measures to children's academic performance, including test scores in reading and math.

What they found surprised them. Most measurable forms of parental involvement seem to yield few academic dividends for kids, or even to backfire(适得其反) -regardless of a parent's race, class, or level of education.

Do you review your daughter's homework every night? Robinson and Harris's data show that this won’t help her score higher on standardized tests. Once kids enter middle school, parental help with homework can actually bring test scores down, an effect Robinson says could be caused by the fact that many parents may have forgotten, or never truly understood, the material their children learn in school.

While Robinson and Harris largely disproved that assumption, they did find a handful of habits that make a difference, such as reading aloud to young kids (fewer than half of whom are read to daily) and talking with teenagers about college plans. But these interventions don't take place at school or in the presence of teachers, where policymakers have the most influence - they take place at home.

Comment 1:

Basically the choice is whether one wants to let kids to be kids. Persistent parental involvement and constantly communicating to the kids on what the parents want consciously or unconsciously would help the kids grow up or think like the parents sooner than otherwise.

Comment 2:

It also depends on the kid. Emotional and social maturity have a lot to do with success in college and in life. Some kids may have the brains and are bored by high school, but that doesn't mean they are ready for college or the work place.

Comment 3:

The article doesn't clearly define "helping," but I understood it as actually assisting children in the exercises (e.g. helping them to solve a math problem) and/or reviewing their work for accuracy rather than simply making sure they've completed their work. I think the latter is more helpful than the former. I would also certainly hope that no study would discourage parents from monitoring their children's performance!

41. The word "they" (Para. l) refers to _____ .

A. studies B. principles C. values D. obligations

42. What is the main conclusion of the Robinson and Harris's study?

A. The kids of more-involved parents improve over time.

B. Parental involvement may not necessarily benefit children.

C. Parental involvement works better with low-achievers.

D. Schools should communicate with parents regularly.

43. Comment1 suggests that_____ .

A. parents should leave their children alone

B. kids should be kids after all

C. parents may influence children's thinking

D. persistent parental involvement is a must

44. The writer of Comment 2 would probably agree that_____ .

A. high intelligence does not guarantee success

B. getting ready for college is an emotional process

C. social maturity is sufficient to achieve success in life

D. high school is often boring in the U.S.

45. Which of the following parental helps will the writer of Comment 3 consider proper?

A. Reviewing kids' homework for accuracy.

B. Monitoring kids' class performance.

C. Assisting kids in their exercises.

D. Making sure kids have finished their work

第三部分 完形填空

第一节 考试要求分析和复习方法介绍

大纲虽然对语法没有明确的考核，但是不等于考试不考语法。英语语法在英语学习和考试中的作用绝对不容忽视。如果简单的把单词比喻成建筑用的砖块的话，那么语法，我们认为就是把这些砖块黏在一起的混泥土。没有语法的连接，英语词汇不可能表达复杂的意思的。考试中，语法的现象随处可见。例如，在做阅读理解和完形填空时，尤其是对文章中的长句难句的理解，语法知识发挥了很大的作用。翻译和写作对于语法知识则有更高的要求。

基础阶段，建议大家还是拿出足够的时间把考试相关的语法点过一遍，这样考试中才不会在关键时刻因语法的知识的不够而影响理解的正确性。本阶段语法的复习的主要任务是掌握基本的语法知识，要求能在阅读、翻译、写作等过程中正确运用这些知识，已达到获取有关信息和表达交流思想的目的。语法复习的基本方法是有点到面，然后再从面回到点。前面的点是指基础的要点，而后者指其中的难点和重点。语法复习切忌支离破碎性，要讲究相对简单的系统性，已达到最好的复习效果。

第三单元　　虚拟语气

一、定义：虚拟语气用来表示说话人的主观愿望或假想，所说的是一个条件，不一定是事实，或与事实相反。虚拟语气在条件句中应用比较多。

二、条件句分类：

一类为真实条件句，一类为非真实条件句。非真实条件句表示的是假设的或实际可能性不大的情况，故采用虚拟语气。

1. 真实条件句，使用陈述语气，句型如下表

句型	条件从句	主句
	一般现在时	shall/will + 动词原形
		祈使句

If he comes, he will bring his violin. 如果他来，会带小提琴来的。

If he knows the truth, tell him not to worry about it. 如果他知道真相，告诉他别担心。

2. 非真实条件句，使用虚拟语气

（1）与现在事实相反的假设

条件从句	主句
一般过去时（be 用 were）	should（would, could, might） + 动词原形

If they were here, they would help you. 如果他们在这儿，会帮助你的。

If I had time, I would study French. 如果我有时间，我就会学法语。

3. 混合虚拟
有时，主句与从句的动作发生在不同的时间，主句从句谓语动词的虚拟语气形式因时间不同而不同，这种条件句叫做混合条件句。例如：
If you had asked him yesterday, you would know what to do now. 如果你昨天问过他，现在你就知道做什么了。

4. 虚拟条件句的倒装
虚拟条件句的从句部分含有 were, should, 或 had 时, 可省略 if，再把 were, should 或 had 移到从句的句首，进行倒装。
Were they here now, they could help us. = If they were here now, they could help us.他们现在在的话，就会帮助我们了。
Had you come earlier, you would have met him. = If you had come earlier, you would have met him.你来得早一点，就碰到他了。

I make a proposal that we（should）hold a meeting next week. 我提了个建议，下周我们开个会。

（4）I wish + 虚拟语气

第四单元　　三大从句（名词性从句、定语从句、状语从句）

一、名词性从句

1. 定义：在句子中起名词作用的句子叫名词从句。名词从句的功能相当于名词词组，它在复合句中能担任主语、宾语、表语、同位语、介词宾语等，因此根据它在句中不同的语法功能，名词从句又可分别称为主语从句、宾语从句、表语从句和同位语从句。

2. 引导名词性从句的连接词

引导名词性从句的连接词可分为三类：

连接词：　that, whether, if （不充当从句的任何成分）

连接代词：what, whatever, who, whoever, whom, whose, which

连接副词：when, where, how, why

3. 名词性 that-从句

(1) That 只起连接主句和从句的作用，在从句中不担任任何成分，本身也没有词义。

4. 名词性 wh-从句

(1) Wh-词包括 who, whom,. whose, whoever, what, whatever, which, whichever 等连接代词和 where, when, how, why 等连接副词。Wh-从句的语法功能除了和 that-从句一样外，还可充当介词宾语、宾语补语和间接宾语等。

It remains unknown when they are going to get married. 他们何时结婚依然不明。

5. if, whether 引导的名词从句

二、 定语从句

1. 定义：定语从句在句中做定语，修饰一个名词或代词，被修饰的名词词组或代词即先行词。定语从句通常出现在先行词之后，由关系词（关系代词或关系副词）引出。

关系代词有：who, whom, whose, that, which 等。

关系副词有：when, where, why 等。

2. 关系代词引导的定语从句

关系代词所代替的先行词是人或物的名词或代词，并在句中充当主语、宾语、定语等成分。关系代词在定语从句中作主语时，从句谓语动词的人称和数要和先行词保持一致。

(1) who, whom, that

这些词代替的先行词是人的名词或代词，在从句中作主语和宾语。

Is he the man who/that wants to see you? 他就是你想见的人吗？（who/that 在从句中作主语）

He is the man (whom/ that) I saw yesterday. 他就是我昨天见的那个人。（whom/that 在从句中作宾语）

(2) whose 用来指人或物，（只用作定语，若指物，它还可以同 of which 互换）。

Please pass me the book whose cover is green. 请递给我那本绿皮的书。

Please pass me the book the cover of which is green.

The package (which / that) you are carrying is about to come unwrapped. 你拿的包快散了。（which / that 在句中作宾语）

3. 关系副词引导的定语从句

关系副词可代替的先行词是时间、地点或理由类的名词，在从句中作状语。

(1) 关系副词 when, where, why 的含义相当于"介词+ which"结构，因此常常和"介词+ which"结构交替使用。

There are occasions when (on which) one must yield. 任何人都有不得不屈服的时候。

Beijing is the place where (in which) I was born. 北京是我的出生地。

Is this the reason why (for which) he refused our offer? 这就是他拒绝我们帮助他的理由吗？

(2) that 代替关系副词，可以用于表示时间、地点、方式、理由的名词后取代 when, where, why 和"介词+which"引导的定语从句，在口语中 that 常被省略。

His father died the year (that / when / in which) he was born. 他父亲在他出生那年逝世了。

He is unlikely to find the place (that / where / in which) he lived forty years ago. 他不大可能找到他四十年前居住过的地方。

4. 判断关系代词与关系副词

(1) 用关系代词，还是关系副词完全取决于从句中的谓语动词。及物动词后面无宾语，就必须要求用关系代词；而不及物动词则要求用关系副词。

(2) 准确判断先行词在定语从句中的成分（主、宾、定、状），也能正确选择出关系代词/关系副词。

This is the mountain village where I stayed last year. 这是我去年呆过的山村。

I'll never forget the days when I worked together with you. 我永远不会忘记与你共事的日子。

This is the mountain village (which/that) I visited last year. 这是我去年参观过的山村。

I'll never forget the days (which/that) I spent in the countryside. 我永远不会忘记我在乡下度过的日子。

5. 限制性和非限制性定语从句

(1) 定语从句有限制性和非限制性两种。限制性定语从句是先行词不可缺少的部分，去掉它主句意思往往不明确；非限制性定语从句是先行词的附加说明，去掉了也不会影响主句的意思，与主句之间通常用逗号分开。

This is the house which we bought last month. 这是我们上个月买的那幢房子。（限制性）

The house, which we bought last month, is very nice.这幢房子很漂亮，是我们上个月买的。（非限制性）

(2) 当先行词是专有名词或物主代词和指示代词所修饰时，其后的定语从句通常是非限制性的。

Charles Smith, who was my former teacher, retired last year. 查理·史密斯去年退休了，他曾经是我的老师。

My house, which I bought last year, has got a lovely garden. 我去年买的的那幢房子带着个漂亮的花园。

This novel, which I have read three times, is very touching. 这本小说很动人，我已经读了三遍。

(3) 非限制性定语从句还能将整个主句作为先行词，对其进行修饰，这时从句谓语动词要用第三人称单数。

He seems not to have grasped what I meant, which greatly upsets me. 他似乎没抓住我的意思，这使我心烦。

Liquid water changes to vapor, which is called evaporation. 液态水变为蒸汽，这就叫做蒸发。

6. 介词+关系词

(1) 介词后面的关系词不能省略。

(2) that 前不能有介词。

(3) 某些在从句中充当时间，地点或原因状语的"介词+关系词"结构可以同关系副词 when 和 where 互换。

This is the house in which I lived two years ago. 这是我两年前住过的房子。

This is the house where I lived two years ago.

This is the beach to which I like to go most in summer. 这就是我夏天最喜欢去的沙滩。

This is the beach where I like to go most in summer.

Do you remember the day on which you joined our club? 还记得你加入我们俱乐部的那一天吗？

Do you remember the day when you joined our club?

7. as, which 非限定性定语从句

由 as, which 引导的非限定性定语从句，as 和 which 可代整个主句，相当于 and this 或 and that as 一般放在句首，which 在句中。

As we know, smoking is harmful to one's health. 如我们所知，吸烟有害健康。

As is known to everyone, Taiwan belongs to China. 众所周知，台湾属于中国。

The sun heats the earth, which is very important to us. 太阳使地球暖起来，这对我们人类很重要。

8. 复合关系代词引导的并非定语从句而是名词性从句

(1) what = the thing which　whatever = anything that

What you want has been sent here. 你要的东西都送来了。

Whatever you want makes no difference to me. 不管你要什么，跟我没什么关系。

(2) who= the person that　whoever= anyone who　whomever=anyone whom

完形填空大纲要求

一、大纲要求

第四部分 完形填空

本部分共设 10 题，每题 1 分，考试时间为 10 分钟。本部分在一篇难度适中的短文中设置 10 个空白，每个空白给出 4 个备选答案，要求考生从所给备选答案中选出一个最佳答案，使短文完整。

语篇完型处理

在理解阅读材料的基础上能综合运用词汇、语法、搭配、语段、篇章逻辑等方面的知识和上下文等对语篇各层次的信息进行正确判断和完形处理。

二、解题须知

考生解题时，必须灵活的运用所掌握的英语知识。不仅要掌握好词汇、语法等基本语言要素，还要了解诸如一致性和连贯性等语段特征，而且还要能够积极调动平时积累的文化历史背景知识，才能在解题时融会贯通，将自己在词汇、语法和阅读理解三方面的经验结合在一起，提高答题正确率。

1、重视首句，把握主题

英语知识运用文章一般无标题，首句一般不留空白，是完整的一句，全文信息从此开始。细读首句，可判断文章体裁，并利用我们所了解的与文章主题相关的常识及一般性的英语知识来预测全文主旨。

2、速读全文，掌握大意

速读全文要一气呵成，尽管有空格、生词或不明白的地方，仍要快速读下去。通读全文要读什么呢?一，读时要注意找出关键词、中心词，划出某些代表人物和情节的词，以便于形成思路。二，注意短文主题或大段主题的展开方式或扩展层次。三，要注意连词和指代词的运用。注意，一，句子较长作标记，二，抓住句子的主干，三，从句或修饰成分可略去不读。不要在未理解大意的基础上，边阅读边做题，这样速度慢，准确率低。

3、瞻前顾后，灵活答题

“瞻前顾后”，即先读所填词的句子，回顾上一句，兼顾下一句。如果一句中有两个空白待填，在初定答案时要“双管齐下”，在两处同时试填，然后通读全句，确定答案。注意，要时刻紧扣文章和段落首句答题。

1)择优法：根据文章及结构边读边填，如果能够立刻判定最佳答案的，不必再去逐个考证其余答案。

2)排除法：如果答案一时难以确定，可按空格位置，从语法结构、词语搭配、上下文语境、习惯用法、词义辨析等方面，对选项逐项分析试填。排除干扰项，从而确定正确答案。

一旦开始做题，不要因为某道题难而停留太多的时间。做题以了解文章的大意为前提，一旦开始做题，就应该根据你抓住的线索快速做出反应，趁思路清晰、语感流畅，把握好整篇文章的大局。如遇个别难题，可以暂时跳过去或初拟一个答案，后面往往会有对这道题的提示。如果停滞不前，不但会打断思路、造成时间上的紧张，而且往往会无济于事，要知道，随着文章的空白越来越少，整篇文章的意思就会越来越清楚，意思越明白，做题就越顺手。

4、复读全文，检查核对

由于选答案时讲求一气呵成，初选过后还应根据上下文对有疑问或把握不准的答案进行推敲。这时，应重读文章，从语义和逻辑的角度检查文章是否有问题，根据上下文调整和对答案。可使用结构分析，找关键词，词汇的重现和复现，前后对照，排除干扰项等做题方法，重点解决一些疑难问题，使文章读起来通顺流畅、条理清晰、逻辑性强，才能保证选择的正确性。

三、完形特点

完形填空试题主要是用来考查考生综合运用各项英语基础知识的能力，特别是考查考生对文章整体内容理解的深度。它要求在熟练掌握语法、词语和其他语言知识的基础上，善于完整地、全面地接受文章内容，认识文章的结构和各部分的逻辑关系，善于在文章中发现并捕捉信息点，通过分析思考，做出准确的判断，选出最符合文章内容要求的答案。

该考项不单纯考查考生对某些语法项目的掌握或某些词义的识别及辨析，而是从语篇的角度综合测试考生的阅读理解能力、词汇的掌握、语法规则的应用及对英语惯用法的熟悉程度。因此，完形填空是连贯短文层次上的填空，考生应该在正确理解通篇文章大意的基础上，综合运用所学过的词汇和语法知识，选择最佳答案，使短文的意思和结构完整。

首先，完形填空的测试重点已从传统的语法项目转移到对整体语感的测试。根据上下文进行选择的题目比例很大。词汇的测试也不仅仅限于对基本词义的理解，同义词、近义词、一词多义、固定搭配及习惯用法的应用也成为测试的重点。能否在该考项取得好成绩，取决于做大量的阅读练习以增加语感，打好语言功底。

四、解题思路

从某种意义上讲，完形填空与阅读理解之间的关系最密切。实际上，完形填空的第一关便是阅读理解，或者说阅读理解是完形填空测试的一部分内容，所检测的阅读理解能力渗透在每一小题的解题过程中。完形填空解题的首要步骤是将短文的大意理解清楚。

完形填空是将语法和词汇题放在语篇中考，所以与单纯的语法题和词汇题不同。考生在备考时不但要花力气去背记语法要点和积累词汇，还要注意单词在使用中的搭配习惯和用法上各自不同的特点及同义词之间的差别等。

具体解题过程中，考生可以参考以下几种解题思路作答：

1. 根据语法进行选择；

2. 根据词汇的固定搭配选定答案（此类所占比例较大）；

3. 根据句子及上下文的意思选定答案；

4. 区别选项中的同义词或近义词；

5. 区分选项中的形似词或同音词；

6. 根据句子的逻辑关系选定答案（理解句子意思，注意句中一正一反的表达）；

7. 根据句意并辨析短语进行选择。

以上方法有时是单独使用，有的地方需要反复琢磨，综合多种方法才能得到最佳答案，因此在使用过程中，考生还是要灵活应对。

五、注意事项

1.通读全文，从整体角度掌握文章大意

答题之前，一定要快速通读整篇文章，了解短文大意，为选择做准备，这样可以避免有前后撞车"。绝对不能拿过来就做。

一般来讲，短文的开篇第一句都不留空，通读的关键要弄清第一句，这一句往往是本段甚至是本文的主题句，便于考生对短文主题及背景的理解。

2、结合上下文内容的合理性及句子之间的逻辑关系选择最佳答案

完形填空练习中，有些解题信息并非以词的形式出现，而是要从上文或下文的部分句子或整个句子甚至几个句子去捕捉。该项练习在很多情况下是利用语法的正确性与内容的排斥性之间的矛盾来命题的。因此，有些选项离开上下文孤立地看，语法是正确的，而结合上下文看，内容却是错误的。所以考生一定要结合上下文才有可能作出正确的选择。

完形填空中连接上下文常见的表示逻辑关系的连词、副词和某些词组有：

1) 表示转折：yet, but, however, nevertheless, …
2) 表示并列：and, or,…
3) 表示递进、补充：moreover, besides, in addition, not only…but also…, …
4) 表示原因、结果：because, as, since, due to, therefore, as a result,…
5) 表示比较、对比：in comparison, like, as, in contrast, conversely, on the contrary, …

3、确保语法结构正确

虽然近年来在各种考试中，完形填空试题单纯测试语法项目的题目越来越少，但结合词汇的使用和对文章的理解而设计的语法试题仍然可见。

句子的主谓一致，语态，虚拟语气，从句的类型(名词从句，定语从句等)，主从句的连接词，代词的性、数、格，动词的谓语和非谓语形式及含有介词结构的习惯用法等都是语法结构测试的重点。

4. 准确掌握词的意义及用法；词汇的固定搭配；特别要注意习惯用法

完形填空考试内容的很大一部分是测试考生的词汇量及用词的准确性，题目所给的四个选项常常是近义词或近形词，有时也考多义词的不常用的含义。

至于固定搭配只要平时多记多练是比较容易掌握的。习惯用法是语言在长期的使用过程中，不断演化、积累的结果，并且无法量化，因此，习惯用法是学习英语的难点，也是完形填空测试中常见的题型。

Nuclear energy is an efficient and convenient substitute for conventional forms of energy which were found in special geographical locations. Large amounts of 61 and effort are required to 62 these locations. Once the sites are found, men and equipment must be brought to tap and use these sources of energy. However, a large proportion of such sites are found only in far and 63 places. This increases the difficulties of 64 these forms of energy. With nuclear energy, such difficulties are not present. Nuclear reactors can easily be built anywhere, and man does not have to compete with the 65 of nature in order to obtain the energy. For equal amounts of energy, nuclear energy is much more convenient and inexpensive to obtain than conventional sources of energy.

With nuclear energy, the amount of pollution is greatly reduced. 66 the production of nuclear energy is based on the fission (裂变) of atoms, pollution is kept to a very low level. The energy produced in the reactors is converted into heat and electricity, and these have 67 or no pollution at all. Conventional forms of fuel, 68 ，produce large amounts of pollution.

Production of nuclear energy uses the 69 of the fission of atoms: thus, 70 amounts of energy can be obtained from it. The world's reserves of oil, coal and natural gas are running 71 at a tremendous rate and current estimates predict that 72 of the 21st century, most of these conventional fuels will be used up. Nuclear energy is the exception 73 this gloomy prediction. Through splitting and fusing atoms, large amounts of energy can be produced, and 74 this process can go on and on until all our energy needs are satisfied. The 75 of nuclear energy as a boundless source of energy is indeed great, and we must harness it whenever possible as conventional fuels will not be around much longer.

I suppose they thought that kids whose parents had a car would keep asking them to go to a particular filling station so that they could get another free badge. My dad bought our first car in 1956 — I think it was a black Ford Popular—and every time I went out with him in it I used to ask him to go to a different petrol station so that I could add more to my growing badge collection. Actually, he was a very shy man, my father, and I'm sure he didn't like asking for free things.

Journalist: So petrol company badges were the first ones in your collection, weren't they?

Simpson: After "swimming" and "tidy", yeah. But soon all sorts of companies started making badges to advertise their products, (10) _____. 2022 同等学力英语专项突破班讲义

目 录

完型填空.....2
阅读理解.....9

完型填空

大纲要求

一、大纲要求

本部分共设 10 题，每题 1 分，考试时间为 10 分钟。本部分在一篇难度适中的短文中设置 10 个空白，每个空白给出 4 个备选答案，要求考生从所选答案中选出一个最佳答案，使短文完整。

二、解题须知

考生解题时，必须灵活的运用所掌握的英语知识。不仅要掌握好词汇、语法等基本语言要素，还要了解诸如一致性和连贯性等语段特征，而且还要能够积极调动平时积累的文化历史背景知识，才能在解题时融会贯通，将自己在词汇、语法和阅读理解三方面的经验结合在一起，提高答题正确率。

1、重视首句，把握主题

英语知识运用文章一般无标题，首句一般不留空白，是完整的一句，全文信息从此开始。细读首句，可判断文章体裁，并利用我们所了解的与文章主题相关的常识及一般性的英语知识来预测全文主旨。

2、速读全文，掌握大意

速读全文要一气呵成，尽管有空格、生词或不明白的地方，仍要快速读下去。通读全文要读什么呢?一，读时要注意找出关键词、中心词，划出某些代表人物和情节的词，以便于形成思路。二，注意短文主题或大段主题的展开方式或扩展层次。三，要注意连词和指代词的运用。注意，一，句子较长作标记，二，抓住句子的主干，三，从句或修饰成分可略去不读。不要在未理解大意的基础上，边阅读边做题，这样速度慢，准确率低。

3、瞻前顾后，灵活答题

“瞻前顾后”，即先读所填词的句子，回顾上一句，兼顾下一句。如果一句中有两个空白待填，在初定答案时要“双管齐下”，在两处同时试填，然后通读全句，确定答案。注意，要时刻紧扣文章和段落首句答题。

1)择优法：根据文章及结构边读边填，如果能够立刻判定最佳答案的，不必再去逐个考证其余答案。

2)排除法：如果答案一时难以确定，可按空格位置，从语法结构、词语搭配、上下文语境、习惯用法、词义辨析等方面，对选项逐项分析试填。排除干扰项，从而确定正确答案。

一旦开始做题，不要因为某道题难而停留太多的时间。做题以了解文章的大意为前提，一旦开始做题，就应该根据你抓住的线索快速做出反应，趁思路清晰、语感流畅，把握好整篇文章的大局。如遇个别难题，可以暂时跳过去或初拟一个答案，后面往往会有对这道题的提示。如果停滞不前，不但会打断思路、造成时间上的紧张，而且往往会无济于事，要知道，随着文章的空白越来越少，整篇文章的意思就会越来越清楚，意思越明白，做题就越顺手。

4、复读全文，检查核对

由于选答案时讲求一气呵成，初选过后还应根据上下文对有疑问或把握不准的答案进行推敲。这时，应重读文章，从语义和逻辑的角度检查文章是否有问题，根据上下文调整和对答案。可使用结构分析，找关键词，词汇的重现和复现，前后对照，排除干扰项等做题方法，重点解决一些疑难问题，使文章读起来通顺流畅、条理清晰、逻辑性强，才能保证选择的正确性。

三、完型特点

完型填空试题主要是用来考查考生综合运用各项英语基础知识的能力，特别是考查考生对文章整体内容理解的深度。它要求在熟练掌握语法、词语和其他语言知识的基础上，善于完整地、全面地接受文章内容，认识文章的结构和各部分的逻辑关系，善于在文章中发现并捕捉信息点，通过分析思考，做出准确的判断，选出最符合文章内容要求的答案。

该考项不单纯考查考生对某些语法项目的掌握或某些词义的识别及辨析，而是从语篇的角度综合测试考生的阅读理解能力、词汇的掌握、语法规则的应用及对英语惯用法的熟悉程度。因此，完型填空是连贯短文层次上的填空，考生应该在正确理解通篇文章大意的基础上，综合运用所学过的词汇和语法知识，选择最佳答案，使短文的意思和结构完整。

首先，完型填空的测试重点已从传统的语法项目转移到对整体语感的测试。根据上下文进行选择的题目比例很大。词汇的测试也不仅仅限于对基本词义的理解，同义词、近义词、一

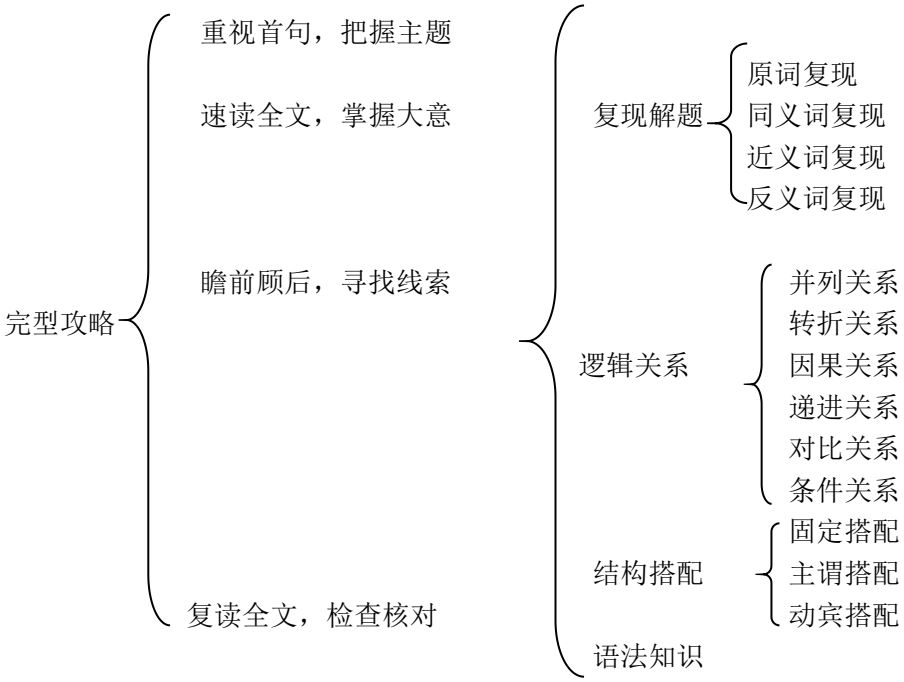

词多义、固定搭配及习惯用法的应用也成为测试的重点。能否在该考项取得好成绩，取决于做大量的阅读练习以增加语感，打好语言功底。

四、解题思路

从某种意义上讲，完型填空与阅读理解之间的关系最密切。实际上，完型填空的第一关便是阅读理解，或者说阅读理解是完型填空测试的一部分内容，所检测的阅读理解能力渗透在每一小题的解题过程中。完型填空解题的首要步骤是将短文的大意理解清楚。

完型填空是将语法和词汇题放在语篇中考，所以与单纯的语法题和词汇题不同。考生在备考时不但要花力气去背记语法要点和积累词汇，还要注意单词在使用中的搭配习惯和用法上各自不同的特点及同义词之间的差别等。

具体解题过程中，考生可以参考以下几种解题思路作答：

以上方法有时是单独使用，有的地方需要反复琢磨，综合多种方法才能得到最佳答案，因此在使用过程中，考生还是要灵活应对。

真题实战

2003

Passage 1

Desperately short of living space and dangerously prone to flooding, the Netherlands plans to start building homes, businesses and even roads on water.

With nearly a third of the country already covered by water and half of its land mass below sea level and constantly under threat from rising waters, the authorities believe that floating communities may well be the future.

Six prototype wooden and aluminum floating houses are already attached to something off Amsterdam, and at least a further 100 are planned on the same estate, called Ijburg.

"Everybody asks why didn't we do this kind of thing before," said Gijsbert Van der Woerdt, director of the firm responsible for promoting the concept. "After Bangladesh we're the most densely populated country in the world. Building space is scarce and government studies show that we'll need to double the space available to us in the coming years to meet all our needs. "

Before being placed on the water and moved into position by tugboats (拖船), the houses are built on land atop concrete flat—bottomed boats, which encase giant lumps of polystyrene （聚苯乙烯） reinforced with steel. The flat—bottomed boats are said to be unsinkable and are anchored by underwater cables. The floating roads apply the same technology.

The concept is proving popular with the Dutch. The waiting list for such homes, which will cost between euros 200, 000～500, 000 to buy, runs to 5, 000 names, claims Vander Woerdt.

With much of the country given over to market gardening and the intensive cultivation of flowers, planners have also come up with designs for floating greenhouses designed so that the water beneath them irrigates the plants and controls the temperature inside.

A pilot project, covering 50 hectares of flooded land near Amsterdam's Schiphol airport, is planned for 2005.

The opportunities for innovative developers look promising. "We have 10 projects in the pipeline—floating villages and cities complete with offices, shops and restaurants," Van der Woerdt said.

51. The Netherlands plans to start building floating communities on water because _____.

A. most parts of the country are covered by water

B. the country is constantly threatened by floods

C. it will promote the cultivation of flowers

D. people think it better to live on water

52. By citing "Everyone asks why didn't we do this kind of thing before ", the author wants to tell us that_____.

A. building floating communities is a very good idea

B. the director of the firm didn't want to answer the question

C. the Netherlands should follow the example of Bangladesh

D. people are not satisfied with the government's work

53. The floating houses will be_____ .

A. reinforced with steel B. made of concrete C. constructed in water D. built on boats

Passage 2

Some futurologists have assumed that the vast upsurge (剧增) of women in the workforce may portend a rejection of marriage. Many women, according to this hypothesis, would rather work than marry. The converse (反面) of this concern is that the prospects of becoming a multi-paycheck household could encourage marriages. In the past, only the earnings and financial prospects of the man counted in the marriage decision. Now, however, the earning ability of a woman can make her more attractive as a marriage partner. Data show that economic downturns tend to postpone marriage because the parties cannot afford to establish a family or are concerned about rainy days ahead. As the economy rebounds, the number of marriages also rises.

Coincident with the increase in women working outside the home is the increase in divorce rates. Yet, it may be wrong to jump to any simple cause-and-effect conclusions. The impact of a wife's work on divorce is no less cloudy than its impact on marriage decisions. The realization that she can be a good provider may increase the chances that a working wife will choose divorce over an unsatisfactory marriage. But the reverse is equally plausible. Tensions grounded in financial problems often play a key role in ending a marriage. Given high unemployment, inflationary problems, and slow growth in real earnings, a working wife can increase household income and relieve some of these pressing financial burdens. By raising a family's standard of living, a working wife may strengthen her family's financial and emotional stability.

Psychological factors also should be considered. For example, a wife blocked from a career outside the home may feel caged in the house. She may view her only choice as seeking a divorce.

On the other hand, if she can find fulfillment through work outside the home, work and marriage can go together to create a stronger and more stable union.

Also, a major part of women's inequality in marriage has been due to the fact that, in most cases, men have remained the main breadwinners. With higher earning capacity and status occupations outside of the home comes the capacity to exercise power within the family. A working wife may rob a husband of being the master of the house. Depending upon how the couple reacts to these new conditions, it could create a stronger equal partnership or it could create new insecurities.
