There are many factors accounting for this phenomenon, but the following ones are the most typical.

The first one is closely related to Chinese booming economy, many foreigners have paid much more attention to China than they did before.

For example, a great number of cross-national corporates have invested their own plants in China. Thus, learning Chinese as well as its related culture has become a necessity for them.

More importantly, Chinese government and related departments have been passionately expanding the influence of Chinese culture globally. For example, a series of forums about Chinese culture have sprung up like mushrooms after rain.

Last but not least, it is reported that more foreign students have chosen Chinese colleges for their further education. Thus, understanding its culture has been a threshold for them.

新东方在线 www.koolearn.com 网络课堂电子教材系列

CASE：青少年无法独立成长

There are many factors accounting for this phenomenon, but the following ones are the most typical.

The first one is related to better economy, majority of children are raised up in a fairly rich and cozy environment, but hardly experience any hardship.

Others may blame for the elementary education.

Family members and teachers attach higher importance to their scores rather than the cultivation of children’ s personality and capability.

Lastly, the only-child policy should be picked out.

This policy causes many kids living in an isolated environment without sufficient communication with their peers.

Currently, the whole society has been split by the topic of urbanization.

新东方在线 www.koolearn.com 网络课堂电子教材系列

Supporters consider that it has a set of benefits. First of all, city has better work opportunities and resources in medical care and education.

Meanwhile, living in cities can enjoy much more diversified life style, compared with living in rural areas.

However, others maintain that urbanization produces a great deal of problems.

For one, there are heavier work pressure and more fast-paced lifestyle, which may be poisonous to one’s body and mind.

For another, compared with living in villages, the living cost in cities is much higher, and interpersonal relationship is much more complicated as well.
